

Lesage Skilful Player in Federalism Game

By James Nelson
(See story Page 8)

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec emerged from the three-day federal-provincial premiers' conference as the man to watch—even more so than Premier John Roberts of Ontario—in the political tennis game of current inter-governmental affairs.

He lobbed more balls back over the net into the federal court, and with more telling effect, than any other player in the match. The fact that he is a Liberal, and Mr. Roberts a Conservative, added to the attention he won in the game with the Ottawa Liberal government.

Before this conference opened Tuesday, Mr. Roberts seemed to qualify as a cup contender because of his stance on the Canada Pension Plan. He kept the Ottawa Liberals off pace by questioning details in the federally-sponsored universal contributory retirement pensions plan without definitely declaring whether he is for it or against it.

Mr. Lesage, on the other hand, had been playing it calmly. He had on his side a resolution of the Quebec legislature committing him to a provincial retirement pension plan with similar benefits and which, he told the conference, could be integrated with the federal plan.

The Ottawa team said that was fine.

When the conference met, Mr. Roberts said: "Mr. Lesage wanted to watch the game instead of playing in it, he should be permitted to do so too. Prime Minister Pearson, leading the players on the other side, said that was of course within the rules of the game—every player would be treated alike."

But Mr. Roberts also said that whatever happens, Ontario will have a contributory pension plan—if not the one the federal government is sponsoring, one of Ontario's own making. Before committing himself, he would wait and see what happens to the Canada Pensions Plan in Commons committee.

That put that ball back into the federal court.

Meanwhile, Mr. Lesage responded to two other fast serves. One was the announcement in Finance Minister Gordon's budget speech that Ottawa will pay $10 a month family allowances for anyone 16 or 17 years old who continued in school. The other was Ottawa's intention to make interest-free loans available for university students.

Both of these, Mr. Lesage said, had overtones of federal intervention in provincial educational affairs. During Mr. Lesage's post-conference press briefing it was apparent he scored with the reporters present from outside Quebec with these two points:

1. He regards himself as the leader of a province—with a population which is predominantly French-speaking and Catholic—in a minority position, as opposed to the other nine provinces and for this reason he must be on special guard for the protection of Quebec's position at all times.

2. As a lawyer, he has a view of federal-provincial affairs that requires a lawyer's analytical examination to follow. It is quite all right, he said, as a help to family life for the federal government to pay family allowances to the mothers of children up to the age of 16, but the new federal plan is one designed to encourage families to keep their children of 16 and 17 in school and this is an invasion of exclusive provincial rights in the field of education.

Mr. Lesage said—he disowned any suggestion that it was a threat—that his government would challenge in the law courts any invasion of provincial rights by any legislation passed by the federal Parliament touching on education.

This was the Quebec premier's dramatic power play. Actually, it is a course that is open to any other government or any individual at any time. The vehemence with which he decried it is a threat emphasized how seriously he regards his duty, as he called it, to protect the province's constitutional position.

And so the two challenges to Quebec's educational autonomy were lobbed back into the federal court. The final official communiqué of the conference said the federal government agreed to re-study the student loan and student family allowance questions before proceeding with their plans.

Now the gains and losses are being assessed. The federal government obviously hoped, and perhaps expected, the score at the end of the match would be love-all.

It now has to deal quickly with those balls lobbed over the net into its own court.

THOMPSON SEES SPLIT AMONG GRITS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, said today a breakdown between federal and Quebec Liberals is only weeks away.

Mr. Thompson said Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec has sold down the river any national leadership aspirations he may have had. Recent statements by Mr. Lesage led Mr. Thompson to question the premier's dedication to seeing Canada remain a nation, he said.

He said he doubted the Canada pension plan would go ahead if both Quebec and Ontario did not participate. He praised the proposed Bank of British Columbia as a good thing, but doubted if any federal charter would be granted to it, or any of the other new banks, until next year.

SOON AS POSSIBLE

Pearson Stand Firm

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today the federal government remains determined to proceed with the Canada pension plan as early as possible.

Replying in the Commons to opposition questions about the federal-provincial conference at Quebec, he said that as far as the federal government is concerned only Quebec has indicated an intention to proceed with its own provincial plan.

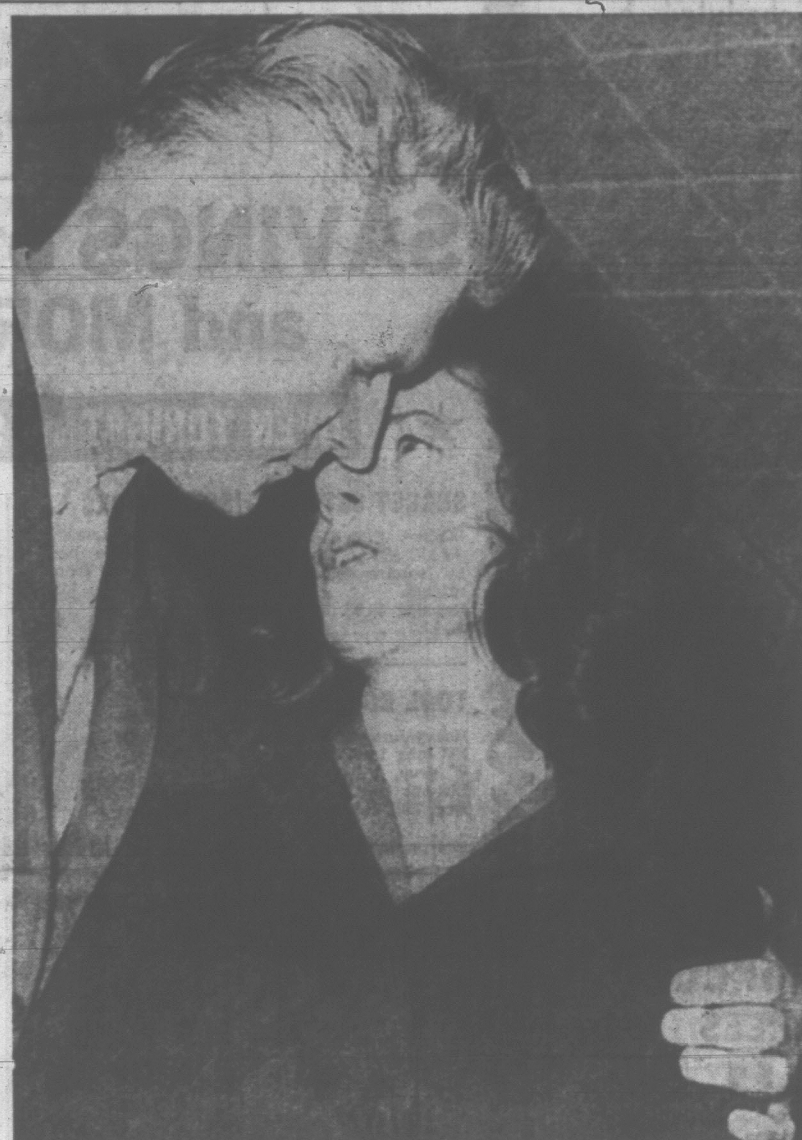

He promised to make a full statement Monday on the conference and its results. Opposition leader Diefenbaker and T. C. Douglas, New Democratic leader, attempted to get information about federal intentions should Ontario as well as Quebec decide to remain outside the federal plan.

Mr. Pearson said the question was hypothetical. The federal government was working on the assumption that only one province—Quebec—has decided to proceed with its own plan rather than participate in the federal plan.

He said he did not interpret the statements of Premier Roberts of Ontario as indicating any intention to stay out. Mr. Roberts had not actually indicated his government's intentions either after the Quebec conference or since the federal plan was first proposed.

Mr. Diefenbaker, describing the Quebec conference which ended Thursday as a "fiasco," asked Mr. Pearson whether the prime minister sticks by a March 14 statement which, Mr. Diefenbaker said, laid down the principle that absence of two provinces would destroy the federal plan.

Or, asked Mr. Diefenbaker, would the federal government go ahead regardless? Mr. Pearson said he recognizes Mr. Diefenbaker as an authority on conference fiascos but nothing happened at the Quebec conference that would interfere with federal intentions to go ahead with the pension plan without delay.

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph A. Flaherty, 41, walked out of state prison a free man today into the arms of his Canadian-born fiancée who helped make his release possible.

Flaherty had served 13 years of a 36 to 46-year sentence for assault, robbery and rape. His friend of eight years, Frances McKearney, 33, formerly of Peace River, Alta., was at the front door to greet him.

For the first time, he held her tightly in his arms, after years of corresponding and brief semi-weekly meetings under heavy supervision in the prison visiting room.

Flaherty, once known as New England's "public enemy No. 1," appeared meek and nervous. Flaherty's release on parole was possible today with the restoration of 150 days of good-time credit which he lost when he was part of a prison rebellion in 1955.

HELD FOUR GUARDS

Flaherty was in a prison gang in the old prison in Charlestown, Mass., that held four guards hostage for 85 hours. As he left prison today, he was dressed in a dark blue suit which cost $30 to make in the prison tailor shop. He wore a white shirt and grey tie, black shoes and carried a dark blue raincoat.

Miss McKearney, who first learned about Flaherty when she read about his prison escapades, wrote to him at that time and his answers developed a pen-pal friendship which later blossomed into personal visits.

Their professed love had helped in Flaherty's release on parole. She arrived at the prison 10 minutes before he walked out. Flaherty kissed her.

Porto Alegre was the focal point of resistance Thursday to the new anti-Communist regime. The local radio there reported serious incidents between pro and anti-Goulart demonstrators.

Resistance to Mazzilli Regime; Goulart's Whereabouts Unknown

(Times News Services)

RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazil today was faced with a period of interim government in the wake of an apparently successful army revolt that deposed President Joao Goulart.

But incidents of continuing resistance to the new regime of Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli, sworn in Thursday by Congress in Brasilia, were reported.

Mazzilli, 53, a liberal conservative politician, was legally successor to Goulart as president of the Chamber of Deputies.

Under Brazilian law, Mazzilli will serve for 30 days until the legislature elects a new president to serve out Goulart's term, due to expire in January, 1968.

mean the return to the relatively small "socialist camp" of the late 1940s, it also means the Soviet Union must guard the world's longest border against an openly hostile China.

In addition to the United States, firmly opposing Communist expansion to the West, there now is also Communist China, firmly opposing Soviet policy in the East.

RESISTED PRESSURES Premier Khrushchev must be thanking his lucky stars he resisted all pressures to help China build an atomic bomb.

With its limited resources, faltering agriculture, and pledges to fight imperialism with "goulash"—improved living standards for its people—the Soviet Union will find such a situation an almost unbearable strain unless there is relaxation somewhere.

It could come in Berlin, Cuba, or any point where Moscow and the West are in conflict.

There might be some concessions on disarmament. However, the direct inspection demanded by the West seems further off than ever since the Russians now will want to preserve their secrets from the Chinese as zealously as from the West.

The other side of the coin is just as important, however. The Russians, and Khrushchev in particular, cannot afford to follow a policy which might appear to prove the Chinese charge that Khrushchev is "the MOSCOW—Russia today called for a meeting of world Communist parties which informed observers here believed would almost certainly be designed for a showdown in the Sino-Soviet ideological dispute.

In a hard-hitting attack on the Peking government, the Russian party secretary, Mikhail Suslov, called for a meeting to discuss "the basic problems of our time."

The bitter attack, running to about 30,000 words, was spread over seven pages of the Communist party newspaper Pravda and was contained in a previously unpublished speech Sus-

lov made to a party central committee meeting Feb. 14. Pravda also printed an editorial saying a recent increase in Chinese propaganda attacks on Russia was "a terrible insult to our party and the entire Soviet leadership."

The editorial indicted the Chinese leadership for "passing all limits in their political struggle against the world Communist movement."

would either admit parties and peoples into the socialist system or "excommunicate" them at will.

Suslov recalled the Chinese had persistently sought to obtain the atom bomb from Russia but the Soviet Union's nuclear storehouse was adequate protection for the entire Communist camp.

He said the Chinese had concentrated their fire on Soviet Premier Khrushchev in an attempt to isolate him from the rest of the Russian people and the party leadership.

"This dirty attempt is adventurist and hopeless and doomed to complete and shameful failure," he added.

He said the Chinese were attempting to develop a personality cult around party leader Mao Tse-tung so he, "as Stalin in his time, would be supreme as a god over all Marxist-Leninist parties."

"The Chinese party should know the Communist movement will never repeat the cult of personality, for which it paid such a heavy price," he said.

Suslov said the Chinese leaders suggested to the peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America that a policy of peaceful economic competition was against their interests.

In point of fact, he said, "the growing economic potential of the socialist countries is in their best interest" since it enabled socialist countries to help the developing nations.

He said the curtailment of economic and cultural exchanges with Russia had only one explanation: "The Chinese leaders want to fence their people off from the Soviet Union."

Chinese leaders, Suslov said, "have apparently decided to carry through to the end their subversive activity against the Leninist unity of the world Communist movement."

They spoke of a split as "inevitable," he said, but only those who broke with the "principles of proletarian internationalism" could say that—since a split would inevitably undermine the world socialist system.

Suslov declared: "Today the policy and activity of the Chinese leadership is in their best interest" since it enabled socialist countries to help the developing nations.

NEW SOVIET MOVE PUTS NIKITA ON TIGHTROPE

By STANLEY JOHNSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The Kremlin virtually read the Chinese out of the world Communist movement today, forecasting an era which brings new opportunities and new dangers for the United States and its friends.

How to exploit what appears to be an unbridgeable chasm between Moscow and Peking was a major concern of the White House and state department long before the Soviet Communist party issued its showdown challenge. Now it has become a vital concern.

To most diplomats, it long has seemed inevitable that a definitive break with China would mean the Soviet Union would have to work to improve relations with the West.

HAMILTON, Ont.—Canadians work all day in a frantic chase for dollars and spend their evenings in a television wasteland, says the editor of Hungary's largest daily newspaper.

Dr. Laszlo Szabo, a 33-year-old chain-smoking lawyer turned journalist, is on a three-week visit to Canada to write a series of articles for the Hungarian People's Freedom Paper on 130,000 Hungarians living in Canada.

Dr. Szabo said in an interview his biggest impression in Canada has been the wild fight for money. It is more marked than in any of the Western European countries.

He described it as "the unnatural, unending haste of all Canadians to get the dollar. It's go, go, go—non-stop."

NEOSHO, Mo.—Officials of this small Southwest Missouri community mustered forces today to end a teen-age vandalism "fest" that has caused an estimated $20,000 in damages to car windshields.

For three weeks teen-age vandals have thrown and rubbed chat, a limestone gravel used in driveways, over car windshields, leaving deep scratches.

One night 65 windshields in a car sales lot were damaged. An estimated 300 windshields of cars parked in church parking lots, in front of homes and in the parking lot of a local industrial plant have been damaged.

More than 75 reports of damaged car windshields were reported Thursday night despite a 7 p.m. curfew on anyone under 19 years old ordered by a special session of the city council.

K Launches His Own Attack

Russia's blast came while Khrushchev was visiting Hungary.

He opened his personal campaign against Communist China today by bitterly accusing Peking of trying to wreck the socialist movement.

Warning that China's leaders want to gain control over the international Communist movement, Khrushchev told a glittering audience of top government leaders at the opera house:

"What can we say when confronted with such absurd aspirations. Only one thing. Those desperate efforts of the Chinese leaders, with which they hope to gain command of the Communist movement, are doomed to failure."

"In recent years, the Marxist-Leninist parties have leaders plainly intended to form a "bloc of its fellow-thinkers" with its own platform and group discipline with headquarters in Peking."

This bloc, he said, was being set up to fight against the world Communist movement for the benefit of Chinese leadership.

strengthened and developed tremendously and nobody has been able to turn them from the correct path of Leninism."

The Soviet leader said, however, that the success of the international Communist movement depended on its unity.

"This is particularly important when the leaders of the Chinese Communist party come out openly with disruption," he said.

He accused Chinese leaders of carrying their ideological difference of opinion with the Soviet Union into the area of international relations.

"They stepped out on a course aimed at the slackening of the unity of the socialist countries and through this caused damage to the international socialist system."

Governor Carlos Lacerda of Guanabara State which includes Rio de Janeiro Thursday night proposed an immediate election for a new president, according to the voice of Brazil—a national radio hookup.

Lacerda, a longtime opponent of Goulart and leader of right-wing forces in Brazil, could emerge as one of the presidential candidates.

This city went wild with jubilation Thursday, hailing the victory of the revolution against Goulart's reform policies which right-wing elements feared would lead to another Cuba in Brazil.

It was feared by some that Goulart, with the support of Communist labor, peasant and student groups, would disband Congress sometime this year and declare a socialist regime.

The end for Goulart apparently came when the 3rd Army switched its allegiance from the deposed president to the new regime and occupied Porto Alegre.

Die-hard Goulart supporters tried to stage a demonstration after Goulart had fled but police and troops broke it up.

The southern state was the last bastion for Goulart.

Porto Alegre was also the stronghold of Goulart's brother-in-law, leftist Congressman Leonel Brizola.

Meanwhile, an announcement said the new regime arrested Marshal Osvaldo Alves Ferreira, president of the state oil monopoly, Petrobras.

It also said "10 other Communists" were arrested trying to enter the Petrobras offices and "destroy documents."

Mazzilli announced the appointments of Gen. Arturo Costa Silva as war minister, Admiral Augusto Rademacher as navy minister and Brig-Gen. Francisco Assis Correa de Mello, minister of the air force.

Under the Brazilian constitution provides when there is no president or vice-president the Congress will choose the president.

Under the Brazilian constitution Mazzilli is really a caretaker president. It provides that a new president must be elected by the Congress within 30 days.

In these tangled circumstances, there is little prospect that Mazzilli will be able immediately to undertake any long-range programs of re-organization and reform. Some stop-gap measures may prove essential, however.

The Associated Press in stories from Brazil has bluntly called Goulart's regime a left-leaning, Communist-influenced government. The Johnson administration wants no more Communist takeovers in the Americas.

And Goulart had let Communists move into high positions.

The late president Kennedy understood this well, and there is no reason to think President Johnson does not.

More than two years ago, Kennedy told this correspondent during a private White House conversation that he could understand Khrushchev's need to "have face." Speaking specifically of the situation in Berlin, he said that if a self-guaranteeing arrangement could be worked out for the Western presence in Berlin and the security of the city, he would not object if Khrushchev found some way to present it to his people as a victory.

Khrushchev put an optimistic face on things to the last. Even in the call for a world Communist showdown meeting, his spokesman said the Soviet Union was still willing to work for reconciliation.

The last time this correspondent remarked to Khrushchev that U.S.-Soviet lineup against China in the not-too-distant future would come as no surprise, the premier showed no anger. He laughed.

the British Boy Scouts Association; Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes; Morton Godsmark, 2044 Granite, and Derwyn Dunbar, White Rock. In all, 307 Scouts were honored.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE CEREMONY

Pearkes Honors Queen's Scouts

Queen's Scout badge, certificates were presented to 307 Scouts Thursday afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes. More than 500 Scouts, friends and relatives from all over B.C. crowded Government House ballroom for the ceremony, one of the highlights in a Scout's career.

Assisting the lieutenant-governor with the presentations were P. B. Nevill, vice-president of the British Boy Scouts Association; Charles W. Nash, provincial commissioner, and R. G. Miller, provincial president.

The work of Scouts during the fire which destroyed the Lake Cowichan High School in January and following the recent disaster in the Alberni district was commended by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes, himself a former Boy Scout. He said the Scouts in the Alberni district who had given up their Easter holidays to assist with the massive clean-up used their Boy Scout training to its best advantage.

Following the presentation the Victoria section, Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Flame Room of B.C. Hydro building, 820 Pandora Avenue.

Films on FM radio and the Peace River power project will be shown.

Massive Musical Treat Served by 2,000 Students

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Pride was something that every one of the 6,000-odd persons in Memorial Arena Thursday night had every right to share.

The presentation of 2,000 students of Greater Victoria Schools, performing choral and instrumental ensemble works of considerable scope with an extraordinary degree of proficiency, is ample reason for pride.

From the well organized, colorful parade of senior bands to the splendid finale when massed bands, orchestras and choirs performed a lilting March of the Seasons by Uvic's Dr. Chet Lamberton, this was a thrill only qualified by the discomfort of the arena seating.

This brilliant showcase of talent and training in Victoria schools was the first of two concerts highlighting the B.C. Music Educators conference at present in session in Victoria.

ALL-PROVINCE

Tonight the all-province concert will be staged in the arena, involving 375 students specially selected on basis of merit, from interior and up-island centres.

Thursday rehearsals conducted by Vilem Sokol (orchestra), Bert Christianson (band) and Dr. Wayne Hertz (choir), indicate that this event will achieve an unparalleled standard of excellence.

On Thursday night, Victoria ensembles, ranging from the 750 voices of the massed elementary school choir to a mere 50-odd players in the Greater Victoria Schools Symphony Orchestra, not only played well but maintained exemplary discipline.

It was rather a long program but every number was well worth hearing or seeing. Dance groups from Lansdowne Junior, Oak Bay Junior and Uplands elementary schools provided an enjoyable change of pace.

CREATIVE DANCE

Oak Bay's creative dance, a free modern adaptation of the Greek Pygmalion myth danced to Lerner and Loew's music, was charmingly costumed, ingenious and amusing.

Lansdowne provided a lively, graceful tarantella and Uplands a neatly performed Swedish schottische.

It is next to impossible to select any specific performance as outstanding, nor would it be fair considering that all had accomplished so much at the various levels.

Organizer of this mammoth event was conference chairman and school music supervisor Harry J. Bigsby, whose master

Ottawa Funds Unavailable For B.C. Road

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has advised British Columbia it would be impossible at present to increase B.C.'s grant under the federal roads to resources program, Northern Affairs Minister Laing said today.

He told the Commons in a reply to Frank Howard (NDP-Skeena) that B.C. has requested another $7,500,000 to complete the Stewart-Cassiar road on which it had already spent all of its $15,000,000 share of the roads to resources money.

The money was sought for completion of about 90 miles of the road over the most difficult terrain in the project.

Prince of Wales' Mop May Crown Him Prince of Beatles

LONDON (AP) — Has Prince Charles adopted the Beatle cut?

The 15-year-old heir to the throne, who toots a fair trumpet and twists rather fab (fabulous to you), returned from school in Scotland Thursday night.

As he strode into the wind at London Airport, his darkish hair came down over his eyes Beatle style. It stayed in the familiar droop as he climbed into a royal sedan.

Was it really a Beatle hair-cut?

Yes, said Beatle fans. No, said squares in gallant rear-guard defence.

Squares pointed out that Charles had been exposed to clippers and shears in the rear, especially along the neck line. It was just the wind blowing on Charles' fairly long frontlocks, they said.

A spokesman for palace attaches, who saw pictures of the prince in the London morning newspapers, said: "We really don't know if it's a Beatle hairdo or not. Doesn't look it from the rear or the sides perhaps. And we really can't ask, now can we?"

The Enemy Identified

THE STANDARD APPROACH to poverty in an earlier age was to provide food and money on a local basis. This alleviated some suffering, at least temporarily, but it did nothing to remove causes. The roots of poverty remained unaffected.

Later came a new tactic. Provision of jobs, with pay cheques, became the aim, and a good deal has been, and is being, accomplished along this line. But this still did not answer all the questions.

More recently, President Johnson, following President Kennedy's lead, ordered a far-reaching study of the whole problem of poverty in the United States. Lack of education emerged as the chief characteristic of the poverty-stricken element in the population. Mr. Johnson's "unconditional war on poverty" therefore has education as one of its chief weapons and objectives.

Uneducated families were found to perpetuate their conditions of poverty. Children of such families had great difficulty in breaking out of the cycle; they tended to live in areas where schooling was not of the best, their opportunities for home study and reading were restricted, their ambitions for better jobs and a higher standard of living got little encouragement.

The Johnson plan aims to correct this cycle of frustration. In the first year alone, nearly $1 billion—one per cent of the national budget—will be devoted to the anti-poverty program. More than $400 million of this will be spent on special job training in camps, centres and existing educational institutions. Local communities will be encouraged to cure their poverty problem with the aid of more than $300 million in federal aid. Lesser amounts will be spent to rehabili-

Five to Start

THE BLANK CHEQUE HAND-ed by the British Columbia legislature to the government at the last session has been filled in.

The petition for incorporation of the government-sponsored chartered bank reveals that capital stock will amount to $100 million, which means the taxpayers' share through the government under terms of the legislation amounts to $25 million. It is a large sum of cash for the taxpayers to put up and they can only hope now that the returns will be as handsome as Premier Bennett has led them to expect.

The amount of initial capital to be put into the bank is not a matter of surprise, for the premier assured everyone that it would be large. However, there is still room for speculation as to why the large amount was deemed necessary. The largest existing Canadian chartered bank is capitalized at only $69 million and the first of the new western banks to apply for a charter is capitalized at only $12 million. What grandiose schemes of Mr. Bennett's does the $100 million capitalization of his bank signify?

The fine hand of Mr. Einar Gunderson in the government's decision to form the new bank has also been disclosed with the announcement that the short-term finance minister and long-time financial adviser to Premier Bennett heads the list of provisional directors of the bank.

Mr. Gunderson, who resigned his directorship in the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce to take the new post, thus increases his direct influence on government-controlled enterprises. He is already a director of B.C. Hydro and vice-president and director of Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Another government enterprise employee on the provisional board is Mr. William Mearns, executive director of B.C. Hydro.

Mr. Bennett reached into the business community for the other three provisional directors and named two prominent businessmen, Mr. Harold Elworthy and Mr. John Wallace. With them is Mr. Frederick Dietrich of Vancouver, a heavy equipment dealer who is well known for his support of the Social Credit party.

It must be realized, however, that the directors named form only a provisional board. It is the directors who are named once the bank is in business who will tip the balance.

Gamble In Sweetness

DESPITE FAIRLY CONVINC-ing evidence during the past two years that world sugar prices are set less by market supply and demand than by the action of futures market speculators, the Canadian government has decided against arranging long-term guaranteed price contracts with several Commonwealth suppliers.

Negotiations on such contracts were carried on late last year when sugar prices were at their peak but were broken off when the prices began to decline. Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp explained that the government believed there was a risk of becoming tied to a long-term contract at prices which could in the future be well above the free market price.

The government's decision was questioned in the Commons by Medicine Hat Social Credit member H. A. Olson, who stated that the price offered late last year by the producers for all of Canada's sugar requirements on an eight-year contract was between £45 and £48 per ton, less than half what Canadian importers were paying at the time.

The decision the government had to make was whether the long-term prospect for sugar was for lower or higher prices. Market action since late last year has produced a steady decline in the commodity, with the world price in London now down to about £48 for March, 1965, futures.

If the decline continues, the government will win praise for its decision. If the speculators manage to force the price up again in the next few years, there will be bitter feelings about the guaranteed price contracts having been turned down.

Clippers Can Be Clipped

CANADIAN MEN WHO HAVE had their hair cut in British shops will see no great threat to the Beetle style in the decision of barbers there to double charges to clients who go more than four weeks without a trim.

In the first place, a haircut over there costs something from two bob-up, plus tip. It will still be a bargain, by North American standards, if the price becomes twice as high. And a frugal Briton who runs over the four weeks can clip the tip to economize.

But if we know our stubborn Englishmen, the barbers can't win. They're worried now about Beetle cuts. Wait until the thrifty Englishman re-introduces the Kit Carson and Buffalo Bill Cody styles.

"OK Phil... grab a brush and let's get these things painted over and put to work again... somewhere... somehow...!"

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A Price for a Unique Freedom

A SPEECH like Sen. J. W. Fulbright's on the myths and errors of certain American foreign policies amounts to an insistence that freedom of debate comes ahead of politics at home or reasons of state abroad. There is no doubt that there are risks in free discussion and that there is a price to be paid for it. But it is not possible to make an omelet without breaking eggs. It is not possible for the Democratic chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee to call in question certain policies of the Democratic administration without giving some aid and comfort to the opposition at home and causing disturbance abroad.

The real question, however, is whether freedom of debate is worth the price. A prime reason why a speech like Senator Fulbright's causes so much disturbance abroad is that the American way of conducting the government is unique among great powers of the world. Leaving out authoritarian governments where there is no such thing as free and open debate of government policies, I can think of no democratic government where a man in the senator's official position could have made such a searching criticism of his own party's actions without setting off a major political explosion.

It could not have happened at all in a parliamentary democracy like that of Britain. If anything like it occurred there, either the government would fall or the senator would resign his office. But nothing like that will happen here, and as a matter of fact there has been no explosion. This is the very thing which foreigners find it so hard to understand—that there are indeed two co-ordinate branches of this peculiar government.

Familiar as they are with their very different forms of government, which are always unitary, it is hard for them to believe that the senator was not the authorized spokesman of the President or that he could differ deeply with the President's administration and yet be nonetheless a friendly and loyal supporter. Only in America could both propositions be true at the same time.

The disadvantages of free discussion of foreign affairs are obvious enough. Thus, to admit from a high place that some policy may need to be revised does encourage not only those who oppose the policy for good reasons, but also those who oppose it for bad reasons. But this is the price we pay for the kind of government we have.

If there were no Fulbright to insist on debate, there would be no official and legitimate way of holding the executive branch accountable and of compelling it to re-examine its policies.

Fourth Option

In parliamentary government, the executive has no fixed tenure of office. The opponents of a policy can therefore make their case and, if they can win the house, they can take over the executive responsibility. Such a thing being impossible in the American system, it has to make do with co-ordinate branches which in favorable times are separate, but friendly.

The price paid for free debate rises when debate is scarce and falls when there is plenty of it. Senator Fulbright spoke out when it had been a very long time since any public man discussed publicly the premises and assumptions of our foreign policy. The truths of the middle 1950s are still the stereotypes of American thinking about foreign affairs.

Naturally enough, in the kind of debate that Senator Fulbright has precipitated, there are many debatable points. Two points in particular seem to me questionable.

One is that he did not examine the changing problems of the Western Alliance as they are being emphasized by the impact of General de Gaulle. The other point is what he said and did not say about our Cuban policy.

He said in the speech that there have been "three options open to the United States with respect to Cuba." One, removal of Castro by invading and occupying the island; two, the use of the boycott to undermine and bring down the (Castro) regime; and three, "acceptance of the Communist regime as a disagreeable reality and annoyance."

Co-ordinate Branches

In my view there is a fourth option. It is not invasion, occupation or blockade, or the effort to organize an international boycott to destroy Castro. The fourth option is the use of our boycott, supported voluntarily by countries which we wish to support us, to put pressure on Castro.

The purpose of this pressure would not be to destroy Castro. That is probably impossible to accomplish by such means. The purpose would be to induce him to try to come to terms with the community of American states. That may well become possible when the Soviet forces, which are now withdrawing, have all been withdrawn and when Castro offers to give guarantees against revolutionary intervention and subversion on the territory of his Latin neighbors.

In the fourth option, we do not use force to destroy Castro, but we do use our undoubted economic power to induce him to negotiate seriously for a tolerable status inside the American community.

I count it an example of the value of Senator Fulbright's speech that he has made Cuban policy, which has so often been discussed in so hysterical and so juvenile a way, seriously debatable—even with himself.

Let Us Think Only of the Worthy People

NO NATION has the monopoly of perfection nor of vice, each one has its share of qualities and defects. Many also, as we do, count a certain number of fanatics among their ranks; however, let us forget all about these to think only of the worthy people.

We therefore have no animosity whatsoever for all the other ethnic groups who represent eminent cultures, as well, we know. How fortunate are those who possess only a few among these cultures, even if only one! Why presume that the partisans of bilingualism relate to a lower rank citizens of other origins, and wish to assimilate them to be or the other of the two predominant cultures in Canada?

French Canadians are aware of the privileges of the minorities, and, in Montreal, the Quebec Department of Youth holds courses in Italian for Italians, and intends to teach Eskimos their own tongue in Nouveau-Quebec.

But, as some might say, why would French Canadians not abandon their language and consider themselves honored by the privilege of integration with those of English language and traditions? One is at a loss to understand resistance to such assimilation.

There is no doubt that French Quebec constitutes a protective rampart against Americanization of our country. Also, the French language, language of the diplomats, language used by 150 million people and which prevails in numerous international communications and meetings, represents a culture comparable to the English culture.

International Tongues

Nowadays, English is as much an international language as French, but not so long ago, the French language was supreme. To lose our language would be a disaster, and those who scorn and ignore French language and culture surely cannot claim to possess a fine education.

How can one avoid taking offence when some people, rarely of good education, hearing us speak French, command: "Speak white!" They only show their ignorance of a language which is held in such honor by the good society of Europe.

To learn French is not to belittle oneself; it indicates intelligence and good education.

But if it is desirable that all Canadians know French, is this really possible? Is it conceivable that a Canadian in Victoria should undertake to learn French from other than a cultural standpoint? Or that a Canadian of Ukrainian descent, living in Toronto, should forsake the study of his ancestors' tongue to apply himself to French grammar? Definitely not, and judicious French Canadians realize this. I agree with Mme. Solange Chaput-Rolland who claims in her book "Dear Enemies," written jointly with Gwethalyn Graham:

Miss Gabrielle Carriere, a member of the Societe Historique de Montreal, and the author of two books on careers for women, here extends a plea for Canadian unity.

"Our country is far too large for a citizen of Halifax or Vancouver to be interested in the usage of French, but between these two extremes—universal bilingualism and a complete ignorance of the French fact—Isn't there some middle road?"

No Cause for Scorn

Those who have no intention of learning French, should at least scorn neither the French language nor the French Canadians who are decided upon maintaining it.

If our English compatriots are unable to converse with us in our own tongue, we must concede that it is often our own fault. Some have tried to learn French, but have given up because of the willingness of too many French Canadians to converse in English in order to avoid them a trouble which, in their own mind, they would have preferred.

One must admit that the precise French language with its rules, modifications and syntax, is more difficult to learn than English. The latter tongue is easily mastered by French Canadians not so much, in most cases, for the sake of culture, but—frankly admit—because of necessity for business reasons.

Much misunderstanding could be avoided if these two official languages were better known. Ignorance in this case, is responsible, to my mind, for a great deal of disagreement, illustrated during the last Federal-Provincial Conference, by the translation of demands by the word demand in the report from Quebec.

Letters

'Moonlighting'

I bet you that Mr. Douglas Fisher, MP, TV personality and newspaper columnist, could make a good speech in the House of Commons, or write a brilliant article in his cross country columns on "Why I am Against Moonlighting for $18,000 a Year MP's."

IVOR J. HARRIES

Wrong Identification

Reference Andy Stephen's review dated March 17 of the TV documentary "The War to End All Wars."

I quote from the review as follows: "Sir Cedric Hardwicke recalled joining the British citizens' army, known as the Contemptibles, and their grim role in the famed battle which started July 1, 1916..."

Either Andy Stephen or the documentary is in error here as the Contemptibles were certainly not the British citizens' army.

The Contemptibles (or, rather, the Old Contemptibles) is the name which has been reserved for the British professional army which went to France at the outbreak of the war. The British professional army was so small a force compared with the vast Continental armies that German sources dubbed it "a contemptible little army." History reveals how mistaken they were.

"STICKLER FOR FACTS."

Dardanelles

Fort Street is one of our oldest and most historic streets. It could become the most beautiful. For many years the narrow 40-foot strip between Yates Street and Oak Bay Avenue was known as "The Dardanelles." In March, 1891, a petition was circulated asking for the widening of the street from the junction of Yates St. to the city limits (near Stadacona Ave.). Many of the petitioners offered to donate some of the frontage required.

In keeping with the Victoria tradition, not everyone was in favor of such a drastic proposal, and for many years "Letters to the Editor" were written for and against the idea.

Finally in 1930, Mayor Anscomb persuaded a reluctant city council to take the preliminary steps. Mr. G. M. Irwin, the assistant city engineer, prepared plans for widening the street to a width of 76 feet. Mr. H. S. Pringle, the city solicitor, was instructed to draw up the necessary expropriation bylaw. This was to be placed before the voters at the time of the December civic election.

But at this point the city fell down. It required a two-thirds vote of the council to secure the passage of a money bylaw and this failed to secure sufficient support to pass it.

Another generation has now taken over the city affairs and in the March 11 issue of the Times we read, "City council today indicated it will put a $3,387,000 borrowing referendum to the ratepayers in May or June to launch the city's first five-year capital development program." It is significant that of the many projects mentioned "the widening of Fort Street from Yates to Oak Bay Junction" was next to the last.

Something to Chew On

Reading Dr. Walter Alvarez' column "Your Health," in the Times for years, I was pleasantly surprised, March 12, that he mentioned the "individual's resistance to the growth of cancer cells" as an "important factor." In my opinion, the best thing he ever said, though it should be "resistance against any disease."

Orthodox people may say that my opinion has no value, but it is based on my 48 years experience after Holland's most progressive doctor, G. W. S. Lingbeek, in September, 1915, gave me a book to read, "Die Esszucht," the Eatmania, written by a German naturopath, which explained the necessity of chewing one's food properly to build up resistance against all the pests which threaten everybody.

Following that advice, I got rid of a 41-year-long constipation, which had been the result of not chewing properly—gulping down, washing down and which had made me a victim of everlasting colds, boils, migraine, insomnia, 18 years of sciatica, a depressed outlook on life, all this caused by the poisons that constipation produced.

As Douglas Hillside in his "Roundabout" column of February 24 mentioned, that now at past 90, I am able to do a regular day's work, yet I owe this in the main to chewing properly, which gives me resistance to any pest that comes around.

Try it, and you will find out, as quite a few have done, who had the common sense to follow that advice.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

Have you ever tried dealer's choice poker with lots of players in the game? The percentages are useless, because there are too many bluffers and hunch types, plus too many wild cards in the deck.

This was the House of Commons game on the eve of Good Friday. Even the man who called the government's bluff, Terry Nugent of Edmonton, didn't hold the hole card he had thought. Thus, the pot he won for all of us was not a break of 10 days on the opposition's terms. Instead, we start with a new deck, different rules, and the Easter holiday gone.

House leader Guy Favreau must think he has the sophomore jinx like a typical young baseball player. He blazed so brightly through his rookie season that the management made him a star. After the fiasco on the vote to send troops to Cyprus comes this comedy of errors. Disgruntled Liberals mumble about getting Mr. Favreau an interpreter, and curse Mr. Diefenbaker for his spite. Our own Stanley Knowles apportions responsibility or discredit like Frank Udvart in the Leafs-Canadiens playoff, while the Lubor Zinks in the best seats cry woe. The day is late and almost lost.

By the way, there is a Lubor Zink. He exists: he works in the press gallery; his column appears in many Canadian dailies. I offer readers this aside because many of you, west and east of Toronto, think he is a figment of my imagination. One old acquaintance from varsity days accused me of switching loyalties. When he knew me several of us had a hypothetical character named Adrian Q. Gombatz whom we injected into every discussion on matters serious and frivolous. Adrian was not unlike Lubor. He was much cast down by the character of university undergrads and their warring, wenching ways. But Adrian was far too erudite and full of nonsense to become a critic of politics.

In any case, Lubor is more direct than Dr. Gombatz. He thinks a lousy opposition is ruining a mighty good government, led by a great guy, Mike Pearson.

Lubor Zink will be taking a whack or two, methinks, at Terry Nugent. Mr. Nugent first raised eyebrows several years ago as a loyal (?) backbencher in the Diefenbaker years. He was considered to be a mild, mind-his-own-business chap. Suddenly he emerged as a poor man's Cyrus Eaton, advocating co-existence with the U.S.S.R. and away with nuclear weapons. Then he was a minor embarrassment; in Opposition he emerges as an asset to his party largely because he is stubborn.

An opposition party needs what the Punch Imbachs would call "hard rocks," obstreperous fellows who won't give in or be quiet. At least, it will need them as long as our parliament and politics are structured so that the main chore of our opposition is to make life miserable for the government. Rather slowly a handful is emerging among the Diefenbaker ranks. None is a frontbencher, other than the Chief. There's Nugent, Erik Nielsen from the Yukon, Louis Joseph Pigeon from some Quebec dell, cantankerous Donny MacInnis of Cape Breton, and three raspy Prairie men with shouting voices, Ed Nasserden, Jack Horner and Cliff Smallwood.

Without question, Nielsen and Pigeon have usurped the position held in recent years by Frank Howard and Arnold Peters of the New Democrats. This is the bitter recognition (by the statement on the government side of the House) that here are such miserable characters that no government action is too innocent to arouse them. Pigeon is a roaming tilter along the lines of Eddie Shack. Howard was the same kind of performer until last election night when he penalized himself for two years in order to make minority government work. Nielsen is more like Peters: find a few soft spots, then hit and hit and hit.

Just as the Shacks and Flemings cause trouble for the referees, the Pigeons and Nielsens and MacInnises try the patience and ruin the days of our Speakers.

Now Nugent has adopted this style of play. Because he is more thoughtful and conscience-ridden than the rough and tumble little crew he has joined, this may be a piece of good fortune for the Conservatives. So few among their first-string are belligerent and persistent. It's as though some of them are waiting for seats in the Senate. Behind them, only a few members have shown much debating poise and a suggestion of real future prowess. Jed Baldwin of Peace River, Gordon Fairweather of Royal, and Stewart Fleming of the Okanagan come to mind.

INDIA AGOG

'Mystery Letter' Thriller

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's capital is agog over "the case of the mysterious letter."

This thriller involves British intelligence, unknown hands secretly searching the dusty national archives, a revolutionary flying home from Moscow in the night.

The hero or heel, depending on your politics, was Shripad Amrit Dange, the pro-Russian Communist party boss in India, vice-chairman of the Moscow-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions, and general secretary of the All-India Trades Union Congress.

He was in the spotlight because someone somehow searched through hundreds of thousands of letters and documents in the national archives and found a letter supposedly written 40 years ago.

It was said to have been penned in a prison cell by a young Communist revolutionary.

PLEADED FOR RELEASE

The young man, frantic at the thought of four more years behind bars, pleaded with the British sabbits to release him. In return he said he would work for British intelligence as a secret agent inside the Indian revolutionary movement.

That young man, it was said this week, was none other than Shripad Amrit Dange.

Clearly, the pro-Chinese wing of Dange's own party was trying to do him in, trying to oust his pro-Moscow faction and take the party into Peking's fold.

Dange was in Moscow when the storm broke. He flew home and declared he was enjoying the whole affair because it gave him a good chance to challenge party dissidents.

His mood changed the next day when he received telegrams from party cells throughout India and his own Trades Union Congress. All demanded that he resign.

The party secretariat talked with Dange for two hours behind closed doors and told him he should lie low until April 9 when the party's national council and national executive will meet to investigate the charge.

The Prayer for Israel group will meet Monday at 7:45 p.m. in the prayer room of Central Baptist Church.

Nationalism Out Adlai Tells U.S.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — stronger than ever before the Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, has warned Americans that they must forget nationalism and place world unity first—or the world is lost.

Stevenson issued his warning Thursday before the 96th charter anniversary ceremonies at the University of California. He and United Nations Secretary-General U. Thant both warned the audience of the importance of the UN in achieving world peace. And both warned of the dangers of excessive nationalism.

Stevenson termed nationalism "the poison that slays us." He said Americans must grasp "audacious dream" of world unity.

"If the United States does not press on," in support of world policing and world law, he said, "the world, I believe without rhetoric or exaggeration, is lost."

In his warning against nationalism, Stevenson said: "Twice in my lifetime our vaunted Western world has plunged the globe into near total war. And in Nazism it reached a pitch of hysteria which betrayed the fact that uncontrolled nationalism is now in many ways an incurably pathological condition."

"Yet, we still live with our passionate nationalisms."

It's amazing how combining your debts can end the fret of meeting monthly payments. Instead of various debts and deadlines, suddenly it's only one payment you have to meet. Taking out a second mortgage on your home—repayable over any period up to 12 years at C.A.C. Realty Limited—can make all this possible now!

But that's only one reason for taking out a second mortgage. You may need cash quickly to meet sudden expenses. The question we're most often asked is: "How much can I borrow?" There is nothing hard and fast about it, but normally you can borrow any amount up to 80% of valuation. There are no exorbitant appraisal fees or registrations and no hidden charges whatever.

To take away another worry, C.A.C. Realty Limited can arrange insurance for the full amount of the mortgage. And when your final payment is made your debt is completely cleared—your mortgage will be paid in full.

School Counsellors Beset, Overworked

VANCOUVER (CP)—School counsellors heard themselves described Thursday as a troubled and overburdened group.

"The ever-increasing number of disturbed and difficult children in our society make the counsellor's job more necessary and more difficult all the time," said Stanley Perkins of Victoria.

A counsellor himself, Mr. Perkins was addressing the annual meeting of the B.C. Secondary School Counsellors' Association.

He said counselling should be a full-time position, yet there are only two full-time special counsellors in the entire province.

"An efficient, effective counsellor cannot be a teacher, too," he said.

Mr. Perkins said he does not believe counsellors should be called on to supervise playgrounds, halls or cafeterias.

"You cannot be giving orders one minute and then be talking confidentially with problem students the next."

Adjuster Team To Assess Alberni's Loss

The B.C. government announced Thursday it has called in a private consultant to assess and adjudicate claims for compensation to victims of tidal waves on Vancouver Island's west coast.

No decision on the amount of compensation to be paid will be made until after the consultant has filed his report, expected within a week to 10 days, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black said.

He said the government is hiring E. C. Earle of Vancouver Adjusters Ltd., an affiliate of the Canadian-Independent Adjusters Conference.

Mr. Earle will seek assistance from other Vancouver adjusting firms.

He will be in the major disaster area, the twin cities of Alberni and Port Alberni on Friday.

NO QUARREL

Mr. Black said the government has no quarrel with the damage estimate of $5,000,000 made by municipal assessors of the two cities earlier this week.

But Mr. Earle will conduct a comprehensive survey and recommend the amount of compensation to be paid to individuals, he added.

The announcement came after a three-hour cabinet meeting at which disaster aid to communities hit by tidal waves after last Friday's Alaska earthquake was the major topic of discussion.

Mr. Black said there are two immediate problems to be dealt with.

The first is immediate relief. "We feel everything that can be done is being done by the departments of government—social welfare, health, RCMP, Civil Defence and highways," Mr. Black said.

"Any reasonable request that has been made has been assessed to as far as we are concerned."

REHABILITATION

The second problem is rehabilitation, Mr. Black said. This will be handled by Mr. Earle.

Asked if the government has decided how much financial aid will be available, Mr. Black replied: "We'll see what we're up against first."

He said any request for a federal-provincial agreement to take advantage of Ottawa's offer of aid will also await the report of the adjusters.

"This doesn't mean to say there won't be one in the offing," Mr. Black said.

Mr. Black said Mr. Earle will be asked to make his report as soon as possible. He said that there is damage to a number of other communities on the west coast, including Port Alce, Zeballos and the Queen Charlotte Islands, which will also be assessed by Mr. Earle.

SAILORS are reluctant as anybody to part with money, so these members of the Welfare Committee of HMCS Skeena are taking a lingering last look at $200 they voted to the Alberni Relief Fund. Leading off the

Gunfire Alerts Mediator Upon Arrival in Cyprus

NICOSIA (CP) — United Nations mediator Sakari Tuomioja of Finland got an earful early today of the basic ingredient of the nervous situation in Cyprus a few hours after his arrival here.

There was a burst of gunfire in the Canadian patrol area which could easily be heard in the Eedra Palace Hotel where Tuomioja is staying.

Most of the shooting in suburban Trakonas between Greeks and Turks camped on opposite sides of the cease-fire line was in the British-patrolled sector. But there was also some in the area patrolled by two companies of the Royal 22nd Regiment, part of the 1,000-strong Canadian contingent in the UN peace-keeping force.

All the shots went overhead. Thursday a grenade incident badly injured a Turkish-Cypriot shepherd and sent Canadian troops into action.

The incident took place in the "no man's land" between the

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

The shepherd, suffering multiple injuries, was taken to the Turkish hospital here by the Canadians.

Reinforcements were sent to the area from Nicosia when there were threats and counter-threats by armed Greeks and Turks. There was no shooting, however.

RECEPTION TUESDAY NIGHT

Governor's 'Road Show' Coming

There is a story behind invitations the Greater Victoria Art Gallery has sent out this week.

Invitations are for a reception opening "The Governor's First Invitational Show" Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Under sponsorship of Washington State Governor Albert D. Rosellini, this show is the result of a move to promote culture of the Pacific Northwest through annual representational art shows.

The first annual Governor's Invitational Art Show was opened last January at the State Capitol Museum in Olympia. It consisted of 60 paintings and sculptures by 30 leading Washington artists.

The show was hailed by the press as "a cultural coup" and "a milestone in the art history of the United States."

Governor Rosellini's plan is to invite each year a representation of art from a different northwest state and from British Columbia.

Shows will travel only to northwest state capitals and to Victoria as B.C.'s capital city. The current exhibition contains works by artists who have achieved national fame in the United States and some who, like Mark Tobey, Morris Graves, Guy Anderson and Kenneth Callahan, have gained international recognition.

Second show to be seen here concurrently, also sponsored by the governor, will consist of a one-man exhibition by Phillip McCracken, sculptor, whose work has lately become noted in New York, Paris and London.

He is the first Washington state artist to be honored in an annual nomination for "Artist of the Year."

exploits of staff Sgt. Luis Jimenez-Cruz.

The scene was far different than a few short weeks ago when Mrs. Jimenez-Cruz suffered a series of slights at the burial of her husband in Arlington National Cemetery. Her treatment brought widespread protests.

LEFT STRANDED

She was left stranded in a Washington, D.C., railroad depot, was refused lodging in a motel and was whisked to the cemetery at the last moment after paying a charge, later reimbursed, to see her husband's body for the last time.

The citation read Thursday told of the sergeant's heroism during the Panama crisis when "with utter disregard for his own personal safety he exposed himself to sniper fire to relocate the men of his platoon at a road-block to positions of greater safety."

"Sergeant Jimenez was mortally wounded by sniper fire," the citation went on. "His unexcelled concern for his men and his demonstrated gallantry under fire reflect a great credit on himself and in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Army."

Sgt. Jimenez-Cruz died Jan. 10. He, like other U.S. troops, was without ammunition to defend himself.

Rheumatic Pain?

— does it make you feel years older?

"When I think of all the days I dragged through my housework with rheumatic pain in my back and shoulders, I could cry. Many times I did cry. I wish I had tried DOLCIN tablets many months before I did—they gave me such relief from pain in such a short time that my husband said I looked years younger. I sincerely recommend Dolcin." Heavy Bookwork Ahead at Uvic

When moving day comes to the University of Victoria library in August, more than 100,000 volumes will be whisked into gleaming new stacks by a veteran librarian who looks like an undergraduate.

Dean W. Halliwell is sure he can mastermind the mighty move in two weeks and have two more weeks to shake down before the fall term starts in September.

The Saskatchewan-born librarian, tall, relaxed and close-cropped, will take the library from the split-level box of the Ewing building, Lansdowne campus, and settle it in its first real home at Gordon Head.

M-day will be a short jump behind the last day of lectures in the summer session, August 18.

Heavy construction is being finished now on the three-storey building featuring massive bas-relief pre-cast concrete panels at the front, an open stack system extending to a mezzanine floor, and study corridors for junior and senior students.

CAN EXPAND

Months of detail finishing will go into the $1,000,000 structure designed to enable expansion to the rear when its 315,000-volume capacity is reached.

There are about 100,000 volumes squeezed into the Ewing Building stacks or in storage now. It is hoped to have around 150,000 volumes in circulation next session.

Librarian Halliwell, who came to the university when it was still a college in July, 1960, said he is "confident we can move the entire library in two weeks."

He's had an almost identical experience during his professional career.

That was when he moved the University of Saskatchewan library in 1956-57, then about the same size as Uvic's. He was in his early 30s.

But he started bibliography early. Mr. Halliwell graduated from University of Saskatchewan with a BA in library science, went on to earn his master's there and in Toronto, and went into a public library in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1949.

He stayed six years before returning to Saskatoon and U of S to spend another five years as a librarian.

NORTHERN ANCHOR

He has had an intimate hand in the design of the impressive new building that will anchor the north end of the planted quadrangle at Gordon Head.

"Bob Siddall (master architect for university development) was one of the first people I met when I came here and we have worked closely on the new library."

"If there's anything wrong with it, then it will be my fault," Mr. Halliwell said.

Foreign Meat Stamped

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A new Iowa law requiring foreign meat to be labelled went into effect Thursday. State Secretary of Agriculture L. B. Liddy predicted it will result in a substantial reduction in the sale of imported meats.

Time Boosts Price

Ontario Evidence Stuns Magistrate

OTTAWA (CP)—A magistrate described as an incredible Thursday a witness's statement that he was paid to have sexual intercourse as part of his duties for an Ontario government board.

Graham Rutter, 38, testified he was employed by the board of directors of masseurs operating under the Ontario Massage Practitioners Act. He said that in the course of his duties he had intercourse on three occasions with a girl at a clinic in order to obtain evidence for a court case.

"I find it hard to believe that a board of the Ontario government would pay a man to have sexual intercourse," Magistrate C. Edward Carter said.

The case was adjourned until April 6 when George Stockwell, secretary-treasurer of the government board will appear as a witness.

DOLLAR NOW, SNOW-PANTS YET TO COME

VANCOUVER — Fund-raiser Wendy Royhouse, age six, who harvested nickels and dimes with nursery rhymes, is starting on a new campaign to help Alaska's earthquake victims.

"I'm trying to find snow pants so I can send them up there, too," Wendy said Thursday.

Alaska's Governor William A. Egan had received a letter, wrapped carefully around a Canadian dollar bill, which said only:

"To the dear children. This money is for you." Wendy was the sender.

Alaska House Asked to Pass Emergency Aid

JUNEAU (AP) — Governor William A. Egan flies to this capital city of Alaska today to urge a joint session of the legislature to approve a $50,000,000 emergency bond issue to help earthquake-torn Alaskan cities.

The amount is only 1-10th of the estimated loss but, says Egan, it will show Alaska is willing to do everything possible to pull itself up by its bootstraps.

From all over the world came offers of money for the communities devastated by the tremor that wracked south-central Alaska a week ago today.

President Johnson urged Congress to approve $50,000,000 in emergency funds quickly and in Seattle, Senator Henry M. Jackson, Washington State Democrat, predicted eventual congressional approval of up to $200,000,000.

Jackson, attending a meeting of 500 state and federal officials and Seattle businessmen, proposed a government-sponsored retroactive disaster insurance plan. He said the precedent of retroactive insurance was established during the Second World War when the government offered war risk insurance to persons suffering property losses.

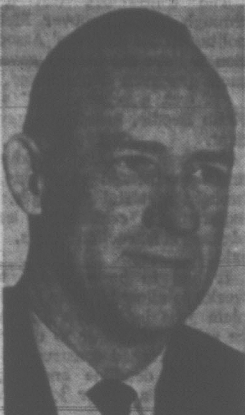

Alaska Senator E. L. Bartlett told the meeting his state has assessed valuation of $15,000,000 and damage, in terms of replacement costs, would amount to about $550,000,000.

Gov't Will Invest $25 Million In New Bank; Directors Named

By FRANK RUTTER

The provincial government plans to invest up to $25,000,000 in a new bank of British Columbia, it was disclosed Thursday.

Attorney General Robert Bonner announced the bank will have a capital of $100,000,000.

This would be more than any new bank in Canada's history, it was learned.

Mr. Bonner also announced the names of five provisional directors, including two Victorians and a former Social Credit cabinet minister.

Mr. Bonner telephoned the announcement from Ottawa. He said petitions have been filed with the Senate and the House of Commons seeking a federal charter for the new bank, to have head offices in Vancouver.

FARRIS-SPONSORED

Senator J. W. deB. Farris, Vancouver, has agreed to sponsor a bill in the Senate for incorporation of the bank, Mr. Bonner said.

The five directors: John A. Wallace, general manager of Yarrows Ltd. shipyard here;

Harold B. Elworthy, chairman of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., also Victoria;

Einar M. Gunderson, one-time Social Credit minister, vice-president of the Crown-owned PGE Railway and a director of B.C. Hydro;

William C. Mearns, another Hydro director, formerly Vancouver Island boss of B.C. Electric;

Frederick H. Dietrich, president of Dietrich-Collins Equipment Ltd. in Vancouver.

Mr. Gunderson Wednesday resigned his post as a director of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce to allow his switch to the new bank.

B.C.'s KILROY

Commented Opposition Leader Robert Strachan: "I see B.C.'s kilroy — Einar Gunderson — is here."

However, Mr. Strachan welcomed the bank announcement, wishing the venture speedy approval from Parliament.

"It's a pretty big bank," he said.

"I am already on record as being in favor of the bank. I hope it is the most successful bank in the country and makes all kinds of money."

HEAVILY INVOLVED

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault was less enthusiastic and criticized the choice of directors.

Most of the directors have heavy involvements with government agencies and projects, Mr. Perrault said.

He maintained that Premier

W. A. C. Bennett will be "de facto president."

"Our worst fears have been confirmed."

This bank cannot and will not be independent of his control and influence."

Mr. Bonner's statement also disclosed the bank's incorporation bill will include a stipulation that only residents of Canada can be shareholders.

Mr. Strachan said this was a particularly good feature, because U.S. trust companies had already tried to move in on other Canadian banks.

"I hope most of the shareholders will be British Columbians," he said.

NO PROBLEMS

The opposition leader envisaged no difficulty in finding $25,000,000 for the government to invest.

The government makes a revenue surplus of about this sum every year, he said.

The legislature in March gave the government power to buy shares by approving an amendment to the Revenue Act.

At that time Premier Bennett refused to say who the directors would be or how much money would be involved.

Only the five Liberal MLAs opposed the legislation, charging it gave the government a blank cheque.

Wiser's whiskeys are older in virtually all cases!

Older to Wiser's means aged in wood, not merely the date stamp on the bottle. It means "married in wood" which is a process of returning the spirits to wood after final blending—for a further period of quiet aging. It means "lighter", smoother flavour acquired naturally—through patient aging. For the best whiskey, drink one that's older and Wiser's

Word of the decision came Monday from company president A. Burlingame, who addressed a meeting of the Society of Security Analysts in New York.

The plant was scheduled to go on a two-shift basis beginning April 13.

A company spokesman here said the two-shift decision was reached after field inventories of Studebaker cars in the United States receded to 12,000 units last week.

PROFIT FORECAST

The Hamilton plant became the company's exclusive automotive division earlier this year when Studebaker operations at South Bend, Ind., were shut down.

Burlingame, in his New York speech, forecast a first quarter profit of some $1 million.

He said net sales for the quarter were expected to amount to some $60 million.

LOSSES BEHIND

The president said automobiles should produce a modest profit for the company, provided world sales exceed the anticipated break-even point of 20,000 units per year in the Canadian plant.

Randolph H. Guthrie, chairman of the Studebaker board of directors, appeared with Burlingame. He stated "the automotive losses which have exceeded $50 million since 1959 are now behind us."

Contractors Claim Bonus Caused Chaos

VANCOUVER (CP) - A spokesman for Vancouver contractors says the $500 winter house-building bonus created chaos here and did not make houses cheaper.

The contractors will ask through the Vancouver Metropolitan House Builders' Association to have the federal government program discontinued.

"It was a schmonzie," said Keith Beattie, association president.

Because it was introduced and implemented so quickly, it brought material shortages, inexperienced craftsmen, and higher construction costs, he said.

It had to be extended two weeks to allow builders to complete jobs by March 31. This, he said, was unfair to contractors who rushed construction to meet the deadline and might have done a better job in the extra time.

Builders here say the bonus and the impending increase in tax on materials contributed to a better-than-average winter for them.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Bingo Is Better Run for Money

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

It is rather distressing some weeks to count up the number of phone calls and letters asking advice about what to do with some stock which has been bought at the urging of some out-of-town salesman.

The amounts involved are usually not large, perhaps from $100 to $500, but those involved are usually people who can't afford the loss. And loss it certainly is in 999 out of 1,000 cases at least.

The fact is that if people who are tempted to "invest" in these "stock" pushers' ven-

Gordon Bell pushes would take their hundred or two hundred or three hundred dollars and follow the local charity bingo circuit for a couple of weeks they would get a far better run for their money. And be doing some good with it too.

The amazing thing about these promotions is that the smooth-talking salesman can load up a prospect with stock and then call back a few weeks later and sell more.

The technique is to make the initial sale at, say, 20 cents a share. A few weeks later the prospect is told that the stock has moved up to 35 cents and this is the time to buy more because it is soon going up to 50 cents. With a 75 per cent "profit" in hand, why not buy more?

The question to ask, of course, is what has moved the stock up? Is there a market for it at 35 cents? If so why not sell and take a profit?

The answer invariably is that there is no demand at the higher price; the salesman's firm is the only agency for buying or selling the stock and it is the firm alone that has decreed the stock is now worth 35 cents.

But even after being told frankly that the jump in price is not the result of buying and selling in a free market, the only method by which the price of a stock can be set, some prospects take the salesman's word for it and buy more.

A point to remember when a stock salesman calls long-distance with a "hot" stock is this: If it is such a good thing, why is the salesman wasting money on long-distance calls to sell the stock to strangers when he could be using that money to buy the stock himself?

About half of the B.C. Telephone Co. Ltd. 1964 construction program will be financed by a $20 million, 20-year first mortgage bond issue which was offered Thursday.

The 5% per cent bonds are being sold at 99.50 to yield 5.65 per cent. They are non-callable prior to April 15, 1976, and delivery date is April 15.

The group headed by Alexander Hill of Toronto has succeeded in its takeover of Burns and Co. Ltd. and secured more than the 300,000 shares originally sought in its offer which expired Wednesday.

Mr. Hill said that all shares tendered in excess of the number sought at $11.25 a share would be accepted. He declined to say how many had been offered.

One of the associates in the takeover which gives the group more than 40 per cent of outstanding Burns shares is Imperial Trust Company of Montreal headed by R. Howard Webster.

Large flour shipments to Russia boosted per share earnings of Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Ltd. to 44 cents a share for the six months ended Feb. 29 compared with 26 cents a share in the same period a year earlier.

The company has orders on hand to operate at capacity until the end of June, a company report stated, but after that date the picture is somewhat obscure. Much will depend on whether Russia continues to be a purchaser of Canadian flour and this will not be known until there is an indication of the progress Russian wheat crops are making.

It is noteworthy that Ogilvie takes a somewhat less optimistic view of the future of Russian grain and flour sales than has been seen from some quarters which assume that the high level of Canadian sales will automatically continue.

A new company slated for listing on the Vancouver Stock Exchange by the end of June has been formed by Consolidated Mining and Smelting, Butte Lake Mining, Huestis Mining, Northwest Ventures and the Rorison Syndicate.

The new company, to be capitalized at 10 million shares, will

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Chamber of Commerce spokesmen here said Thursday Edmonton will miss a major potential source of business and tourist traffic if it does not support completion of Highway 16 east of Prince George.

They were replying to Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton, who said improvement of the Yellowhead route from Jasper to Kamloops is more important than opening the uncompleted highway between Prince George and Mo-Bride.

Alex Clark, president of the Central B.C. Chamber of Commerce, said the Edmonton mayor has no conception of the growth taking place in the B.C. central interior.

IBM on Run to Keep Up With B.C. Computer Demand

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia business community has become computer conscious.

So much so, say officials of International Business Machines, that the company moved into its new $1,000,000 B.C. computer building and data centre here even before the plaster was painted and the curtains hung.

Another centre has been opened in Victoria to keep up with demands there.

'Big M' Spurs Again And Leafs Tie Series

... injured

Frank Figures In All Five; Habs' Beliveau Hurts Knee

TORONTO (CP)—The score after four games of the Stanley Cup semifinal is Montreal Canadiens 2, Frank Mahovlich 2.

The Big M, a recent convert to centre from left wing, was a one-man wrecking crew for Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night as he scored two goals, assisted on three and checked ferociously to lead the Leafs to a 5-3 demolition of the Canadiens.

With a smile almost as broad as the blade of his stick, Mahovlich modestly accepted the kudos of dressing-room admirers and tried to shift the emphasis away from his own performance.

"We were working more like a team tonight," he grinned. His linemates, Red Kelly and George Armstrong, each scored one and Andy Bathgate potted the fifth on a power play with Mahovlich and Kelly assisting. The Canadiens won the first and third games when Mahovlich turned in ordinary performances. Mahovlich turned on the pressure last Saturday in Montreal, scoring once and setting up Kelly once to engineer a 2-1 win.

Thursday night he came out of his shell again and the whole Leaf team came alive.

Not a Bad Night—Just Rough One

The only Leaf who seemed below par was goalie John Bower who waved at three long shots, allowing far-out goals by J. C. Tremblay, Jean Beliveau and Jacques Laperriere.

"I wouldn't say he had a bad night," said manager-coach Punch Imlach, "but he had a rough one with those three shots from near the blueline."

Bower made no excuses about whiffing on the long ones.

"No, Laperriere's shot wasn't screened. It was a good shot. I saw it coming."

He showed his disgust when reminded of Tremblay's long bouncer that tied the score 1-1 in the first period. "I saw that one too. I saw it hop into the net."

In a hot-tempered game that began and ended with fights, the teams came within one penalty of the playoff record for the most penalties in one game and tied the mark for most penalty minutes.

The Canadiens and Leafs were assessed 30 penalties, including six majors and three misconducts, for a total of 102 minutes. The penalty mark of 11 was set in Montreal a week ago. The total-time record was established March 25, 1952, by the Leafs and Detroit Red Wings—102 minutes.

Shack Swings Tide With Head Butt

Before four minutes had elapsed in the first period 10 pairs of gloves had been dropped on the ice and the fists were sailing. Principle combatants were Ron Stewart and Eddie Shack of the Leafs taking on Dave Balon and Henri Richard.

The Stewart-Balon altercation was a clear decision for the Leaf right winger and evened the score for some vicious bumps Balon had dealt Tuesday night. Richard was ahead on points in the other ring until Shack butted him with his head, splitting open Richard's forehead and raising a large welt.

The Canadiens waited until five seconds before the end of the game before catching up with Stewart.

Rugged rookie John Ferguson charged him behind the net, and knuckles started crunching again. Ferguson seemed to get the better of it. Also, Stewart's wallet suffered a $25 blow as a result of the automatic misconduct penalty for being assessed two five-minute fighting penalties in one game.

The Canadiens may have suffered a medical defeat as well. Bill Head, team physiotherapist, said Beliveau may have torn ligaments in his knee when he was belted by Shack.

"He will definitely miss Saturday's game," Head said today. "But we hope he'll be back for the next one."

Beliveau, who has scored two goals, has been one of Montreal's most outstanding players during the series.

Penalties played a big role in the scoring statistics. The Leafs scored four of their five goals while enjoying a one-man advantage, and the Canadiens scored once while both teams were two men short and once while Toronto was understaffed by one man.

POWER GROUP PRODUCES

All Toronto's scoring points were picked up by the five men on the power play. After Mahovlich came Kelly with a goal.

Indian Pilot 'Doing Well'

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Doctors were reported satisfied Thursday with the condition of Birdie Tebbets, Cleveland Indians manager who suffered a heart attack late Wednesday night.

Gabe Paul, Cleveland owner and general manager, announced Tebbets was doing well in hospital.

Paul said Tebbets, 54, was described by his attending physician, Dr. Arthur Dudley, as holding up well.

Paul named George Strickland, third base coach and former Indian shortstop, to handle the club until further notice.

It was not known how long Tebbets will be sidelined or whether he will be able to resume his duties this season, which opens April 14.

Leadership Training Given Priority In Sports Fund Grants

OTTAWA (CP)—Grants totalling $540,396 to 37 national associations connected with sports ranging from cricket to snow-shoeing were announced Thursday by Health Minister Judy LaMarsh.

The grants, designed to give priority to leadership training, were made on recommendation of the National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sport. Awards under the program, which came into effect two years ago, now total about $1,700,000.

LARGEST GRANT

"Largest grant was $51,133 to expand the Royal Canadian Legion's national track and field clinic and establish coaching clinics in each province.

The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada receives $50,383 towards holding national championships and coaching clinics, as well as for a junior Olympic training plan for track and field.

L'Association Canadienne des Centres de Loisirs receives $42,000 towards leadership training courses, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is given $50,000 for hockey leadership courses at five universities.

Coaching and leadership training is also featured in grants to the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, Canadian Lawn Tennis Association and the YMCA and YWCA.

Assistance is given to the Canadian Olympic Association—$30,000 towards meeting teams costs—and to the holding of championships and tournaments in such sports as soccer, table tennis, baseball, skiing, lawn bowling, swimming, cricket and golf.

FRANK MADE IT ROUGH FOR CHARLIE

Playing one of his great games, Toronto's Frank Mahovlich (27) made it a rough evening Thursday for Montreal netminder Charlie Hodge. Mahovlich scored twice, assisted on three goals as Maple Leafs whipped Canadiens 5-3 to deadlock Stanley Cup semifinal. Sprawling after blocking shot by Mahovlich, Hodge is helpless on this play as Leaf captain George Armstrong flips home rebound for Toronto's second goal. Teams tied playoff mark with 102 minutes in penalties. (CP Wirephoto.)

SHOWS YOUNG 'UNS

Ol' Sam Kicks Up His Heels

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Professional Golfers Association senior champion, Sam Snead, showed his heels to the youngsters Thursday, shooting a record-equaling 64 to take the first round lead by three strokes in the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

The jaunty 51-year-old ex-Virginia hillbilly shot eight one-under-par holes in putting together nines of 33-31 against par of 36-35 for the 7,000-yard Sedgfield Country Club course.

He tied the tournament record, missing a record when his 25-foot putt on the final green stopped three inches short of the hole.

Snead has compiled a fantastic record here, winning seven times, including the inaugural tournament in 1938. He has finished second or third on eight occasions and has taken away more than $27,000 in winnings. He added $400 Thursday, winning the bonus award for the daily low round.

Going into today's round of the 72-hole tournament, he holds a three-shot edge over Bill Dunk, youthful Australian, and George Bayer.

U.S. Open champion Julius Boros was alone in fourth place with 68.

Six men were tied at 69, including British Open champion, Bob Charles.

Among those grouped at 69 was Canadian Al Johnston of Montreal with rounds of 35-34.

One stroke back was Wilf Homenik of Winnipeg with rounds of 36-34-70.

Other Canadians in the field were Al Balding of Toronto, 37-38-75; Jerry Magee of Toronto, 39-38-75; and Vancouver's touring pro Stan Leonard, 37-39-76.

Also at 70 were favorites Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Two of Saturday's three play-off tussles are scheduled for Central Park. Gorge and Colingwood Legion will tangle at 12:30 in a Division III match. They will be followed at 2 by a Division VI game between Gorge Whites and North Shore Burdette Beavers.

Saturday's other game will send Boys Club of Division VII against Burnaby United at Royal Athletic Park at 12:30.

Canadian Scottish of Division IV will carry Island colors in Sunday's match, meeting North

CAPOZZI 'SHOCKED'...

... BY ATTITUDE AT UBC

Athletic Progress Too Slow

VANCOUVER (CP)—The attitude of the University of British Columbia towards athletics is shocking says Herb Capozzi, manager of the British Columbia Lions football club and himself a UBC graduate.

He told a meeting of public school administrators and principals Thursday:

"In B.C. our progress in athletics is far too slow, particularly at the university level. I played for several UBC teams while I was there but I have always been shocked at the approach that was taken and is taken at the present time toward athletics."

He did not elaborate on the "approach" to which he referred.

As far as he knew, Capozzi said, UBC did not hold a single provincial, regional or inter-university championship. If UBC's math department was excellent, this would reach down to the high schools and similarly with other subjects and it could be true of sports.

He told the principals of efforts of the Western Cana-

MURRAY BALFOUR... fires winner

DETROIT (CP)—Murray Balfour, a Chicago Black Hawk hardrock, will accept goals in any form, even if they're scored off his backside.

He used that part of his anatomy Thursday night to give the Hawks a 3-2 overtime victory over Detroit Red Wings that broke a season-long Olympia jinx for the Hawks and squared their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal at two games apiece.

It also provided a somewhat harrowing cup baptism for Roger Crozier, standby Detroit goalkeeper.

It was 8:21 of the sudden-death overtime when Balfour parked his 178-pounds in the line of fire on a blueline blast from Stan Mikita. Before the 22-year-old Crozier could make a move, the puck plunked into the net and Chicago was right back in contention.

And Crozier, who had taken over from the injured Terry Sawchuk at 1:56 of the second period with the Wings ahead 2-1, must be convinced that his tough luck rides in pairs. Regular goaltender with Pittsburgh Hornets, he lost by the same score in overtime to the Aces in Quebec in their American Hockey League semi-final opener Wednesday night.

Now, with Sawchuk back in hospital again for treatment of

Pilote Gobbles Up Errant Pass

Midway through the third period, and with the Wings putting up a solid wall in front of the nets, Pierre Pilote gathered in an attempted passout from Detroit's Alex Delvecchio. The Black Hawk took two steps, fired a 90-footer that bounced in the air off Crozier's pads and trickled into the open net off his shoulder.

Crozier was still looking for the puck when the light went on.

Delvecchio, who earlier saved what appeared to be a certain Chicago goal when he batted the puck into the corner as it headed for the empty net, was robbed by Hawk goalkeeper Glenn Hall in the final seconds of the third period. He skated in on Hall who dropped to his knees to smother his low shot and then made a stabbing catch of the rebound.

The Wings, who outshot Hawks 41-33, had a couple of scoring opportunities in the regulation 60 minutes, but Hall was right there to beat them.

Defenceman Bill Gadsby had just returned to the ice after a holding penalty when Balfour, a two-goal scorer in 41 National Hockey League games this season, got the winner. Gadsby had crossed the Detroit blueline and was out of the play when the red light flashed.

"Why couldn't it have been a clean goal?" Gadsby asked no one in particular in the Red Wing dressing room. "It just tagged Balfour and in it went. He didn't lay a stick on it."

"It's great to be back," said Balfour. He had been out since Jan. 23 with a groin injury and returned to the lineup at the start of this series.

HAWKS GET LIFT

The victory was a big lift for the Hawks, who won the opener 4-1 and then, with rookie Bob Champoux taking over the injured Sawchuk in the opening minutes Sunday night, dropped the second game 5-4. Sawchuk reappeared on the scene Tuesday and won 3-0.

IN JUNIOR BADMINTON

Sharples Lass Sharpest One

Charlotte Sharples is a name that may well be worth remembering.

The 15-year-old Castlegar miss has been the individual standout in the annual B.C. junior-badminton championships.

Kid Rink Surprises Dickson

The Gallagher kids of Saanich threw the big thunderbolt Thursday night in the annual men's spring bonspiel at Esquimalt's Sports Centre.

Skipped by 22-year-old Jim Gallagher, the rink from Allan's Club came from behind to upset Jim Dickson's highly-regarded Victoria Club quartet 10-8.

They did it the hard way, scoring four on the 10th end, to tie the game 9-9 and then "stealing" the winning point on an extra end.

The Gallagher rink has to be the youngest entered in the four-event "spiel." Bob Gallagher, 16, is third, second is 13-year-old Jimmy Armstrong and the lead is 14-year-old Gord Patterson.

Victory moved Gallagher into the eighth of the main event. Also moving into the quarterfinals with Thursday victories were crews skipped by Ed Porter, Bob Head, Steve Hayhurst, Elmer Hoffman, Bennett Camp, Lyle Garraway and Jack Moir.

The 16s of the second event are filled and play is just under way in the remaining two events.

The "spiel winds up Sunday. Thursday's results:

Dynamiters Trip Rockets; Meet Quakers

KIMBERLEY, B.C. (CP)—Kimberley Dynamiters advanced to the western Canada Allan Cup semi-finals by defeating the Alberta champion Lacombe Rockets, 7-4, in the fifth and deciding game played before 2,058 fans here Thursday night.

The win climaxed a Dynamiter uphill battle. Kimberley dropped both games of the best-of-five series in Lacombe, 7-5, and 4-3, but bounced back to win the next three by scores of 7-2, 8-5 and Thursday night's 7-4 victory.

The Dynamiters now meet Saskatoon, the Saskatchewan senior "A" champions, Saturday night in Saskatoon in the first of a best-of-seven series.

It marked the first time that Kimberley has represented B.C. in the Allan Cup since 1947.

Golf-Prizewinners

Dorothy DeGirolamo captured the top (net) prize while Uplands' Lil Thirlwell picked up the gross reward in the 16th annual ladies' Good Friday tournament staged at Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Colwood Medal Round

Edna Hay scored a net 79 to capture silver division honors in Thursday's medal round for ladies of Royal Colwood Golf Club. Mrs. D. Ewing (81) topped the bronze division while Mrs. L. Shields (80) led the "C" field.

Athletics Sidelined By Capable Broders

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—"Lethbridge Broders were just too hot to handle," muttered Elmer Speidel after his Alberni Athletics bowed out in the Western Canadian senior men's basketball semifinals 91-82 Thursday night, to lose the best-of-three series in two straight games.

Their outside shooting was great. They are big, rugged and fast. We had too many lapses. We'd get close and then falter."

Speidel picks Lethbridge to retain the Canadian basketball championship.

Lethbridge coach Dean Bennett said, after the roughly fought contest before 400 fans, "We out-shot them and out-rebounded them, and that made a whale of a difference."

SHOOTING AVERAGE

Lethbridge scored on 47 per cent of their 73 shots while Alberni clicked on 45 per cent of the 76 attempts. The fast-moving Broders also picked up 47 rebounds while Alberni pulled down 30.

Bennett said his team was better than Wednesday night when they edged Alberni 88-83. "We had some rough spots, but the boys came through with key shots every time Alberni got within striking distance."

Tall Gordon Foster paced Lethbridge to both victories. He picked up 37 points in the first game and added another 25 in the second contest to lead the team. Ken Larsen collected 22, Harry Blacker scored 17 and Don McClain picked up 15.

KUEHN LEADS WAY

Sig Kuehn scored 19 to pace Alberni while Neil Dirom and John Kootneko followed with 16 and 11 respectively.

Foster, Kootneko and Dirom left the game early because of fouls.

Lethbridge had a three-point lead in the first quarter, stretched it to 51-43 at half time but Alberni crept within five points—63-58—after the third quarter.

Lethbridge goes to Winnipeg to meet Winnipeg Buffaloes in the Western final with the first game slated for Monday.

Broders-Foster 25, Blacker 17, Herbert 10, McClain 13, Larsen 22, Terry 2, Shindler 1, Pail 8, Emsie 0. Total—90. Athletics-Dirom 16, Brittain 10, Grisdale 10, Kootneko 11, Potkonjak 6, Taylor 8, Lehtonen 5, Johnson 1, McPherson 2, Kuehn 19. Total—82.

Fight for Second Soccer's Feature

You can't blame Gorge Hotel players if they plan to walk the touch-lines at Royal Athletic Park Saturday, urging Esquimalt to upset Broders Bakery.

The Hotelmen launch first division playoffs in the Victoria and District Soccer League this weekend, but they won't know until after Saturday's match which club they'll be tackling Sunday at the Heywood Avenue pitch.

If the Bakers, currently tied with Gorge for second place, draw or win against Esquimalt, the Hotelmen will drop to third and will be matched with a formidable foe—league-leading Victoria West.

PLAY WESTS SUNDAY

Should Esquimalt, winner of only three games during the schedule, manage to push the upset button, it would be a happy Saturday for the Gorge booters. "They would then be facing a potentially easier chore in Sunday's playoff, meeting fourth-place Canadian Scottish."

No other first division matches are on the books this weekend and a single playoff tussle fills out the second division slate. In that one, Oak Bay and Gorge Hotel tangle at Central Park.

Victoria United, which defeated the District League all-stars 4-2 and, backed into a Pacific Coast League playoff berth Wednesday, gets back into league action Sunday.

United, assured of finishing in the No. 4 spot, when North

Canadian STUDEBAKER wins "Car of the Year Award"

Track and Traffic Magazine selected Studebaker as Golden Wheel "Car of the Year" award-winner for superior workmanship, safety through design and all-round automotive excellence.

Here are some of the features that won this award for Studebaker.

First of all, the new Studebaker is one of those rare cars free from new car "bugs". The Studebaker engineers in Hamilton, concentrate on improving this quality car, instead of making needless major design changes. You get a car with no annoying problems.

Take a test-drive and discover Studebaker's disc-type brakes—fast, sure, fade-free stoppers they are. The dash is fully padded and fitted with aircraft-type instruments and recessed controls.

A steel frame is disguised by the handsome Studebaker body... a steel roll-bar is built into the roof for maximum toughness. You may never need it.

PLOWMEN READY FOR SATURDAY

It's Technique That Counts Even on the 'Ins' and 'Outs'

Forty plowmen at Cowichan Station on Saturday will be following the old adage:

Spur not an unbroken horse; put not your plow share too deep into new land.

Technique, not depth, is what judges will consider when looking at furrows.

And in this mechanized day, not too many horses will be available for spurring at the Cowichan district plowing match.

Only two teams will be available to those who want to bust the sod in the old style, and they will be well-broken.

Tractors will be in style for everyone else.

Plowmen will meet about 10 a.m. Saturday on the old

Campbell farm on Hillbank Road, near Cowichan Station.

There, they will demonstrate their skill at plowing straight furrows correctly spaced, not too deep, and with neat "ins" and "outs" as they work the plots allotted them.

Each furrow must be led into correctly, and all the soil evenly turned over.

Winners in the championship class will go to Chilliwack for the provincial plowing championship next Wednesday.

There is also a businessmen's class—for soft-handed amateurs who want to try what some farmers claim is a lot of fun.

Cash prizes are up for grabs in that, as in all the other classes.

A large contingent of entries from Saanich Peninsula will be travelling to Cowichan Station for the match Saturday.

In their entry classes, some of them are:

Championship — Joseph Saville, Wally Mar;

Over 18 — Pat Hoole Jr., Jim Mar;

Under 18 singles — Wayne Jordan, Greg Baker;

Under 18 twos — Doug Mar, Reg Raper, Andrew Donald, Bruce Wilkie, Tom Saville, Doug Saville;

Under 18 three bottom — Ken McCarthy, Fred Poulson.

In the under 18 classes, plows running one, two and three furrows at a time are in separate classes.

Only one tender was received by council for construction of a retaining wall at the beach.

Council decided to delay a decision until a check has been made on finances and other estimates for the job.

The bid of $1,900 was received from Burak Construction of Duncan. It was pointed out the budget allows for only $1,455 for the job. It was also noted that municipal engineering experts have estimated the work can be done for $1,000.

Service Club Asked To Pay Lifeguard

NORTH COWICHAN—Coun. Gerry Smith has suggested a Duncan service club pay for a lifeguard at Maple Bay beach during the summer.

He made the suggestion at a meeting of North Cowichan council.

Coun. Smith said many Duncan people use the municipal beach and its recreational facilities.

Council was informed that about $200 a month would be required to operate a lifeguard service.

ISLAND DIGEST

14 Victoria Daily Times FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1964

V.I. ROUNDUP

New Fire Equipment Asked for Sidney, North Saanich Area

SIDNEY—A long-term plan for bolstering the Sidney and North Saanich fire department's equipment will be discussed at the annual meeting of the fire protection district at the North Saanich Secondary School on Wednesday.

The meeting will be open to the public. Chairman F. B. Leigh called on ratepayers to take a wider interest in the affairs of the fire district.

He criticized poor attendance at previous meetings. Last year's annual meeting brought a total of 14 from an eligible list of 1,900 ratepayers, he said. Of that 14, all except three were connected with the administration of the district.

"The firemen leave their employment or their beds at any time of the day or night to assist the community," he said. "The least the community could do would be to indicate that they appreciate the protection afforded them."

The department operates three trucks and an ambulance.

NORTH COWICHAN—North Cowichan council has agreed to meet residents of the Henry Road district in Chemainus to discuss improvements to a drainage system. A petition from 40 residents requested changes. It has been a problem in the area for 12 years.

Coun. George Whittaker estimated the project would cost between $16,000 and $20,000.

CHEMAINUS—Lumber exports from the ports of Chemainus and Crofton totalled 17,196,018 board feet during March, compared with 16,284,274 board feet for the same period in 1963.

Total exports in February, 1964, amounted to 21,795,000 board feet.

Importers were: United States, 6,662,000 board feet; Australia, 3,260,000 board feet; United Kingdom, 2,478,000 board feet; Japan, 1,501,000 board feet; Belgium, 1,365,000 board feet; Italy, 1,237,018 board feet, and Puerto Rico, 703,000 board feet.

DUNCAN—Mrs. Helen Alphonse of Duncan was fined $50 in police court for assaulting Cecilia Jack, a Cowichan Indian dancer.

She hit the dancer with an ashtray during an Indian dance on the Cowichan reserve.

She told the court she couldn't remember too much what happened because she was feeling "too high" at the time.

DUNCAN—The St. John's Players will present the operetta "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" tonight and Saturday in the St. John's Hall, Jubilee Street, at 8 p.m. Duncan choirmaster C. A. Howard composed the operetta.

NANAIMO—A Victorian was one of two men fined in police court here for impaired driving.

D. C. Robertson was fined $160 and his licence suspended for three months.

L. W. MacIntyre of Nanaimo was fined $175, plus a three-month licence suspension.

Flotilla Set for Oil Hunt

VANCOUVER (CP)—A flotilla of four little ships will clear Vancouver early next week on a search for oil riches off the B.C. coast.

For the second straight year the exploration division of Shell Oil Company of Canada Limited is embarking on an extensive series of marine seismic surveys off the west coast of Vancouver Island and in Queen Charlotte Sound and Hecate Strait.

Shell is operating under survey licences granted by the federal government which are being protested by British Columbia. B.C. claims offshore mineral-oil rights. The disagreement between Ottawa and Victoria has still to be settled.

Four ships will take part in the search by Shell. They are the former U.S. minesweeper Miss Juanita, the former Royal Canadian naval research ship Cedarwood and the tugs Joan Lindsay and M. J. Scanlon.

Miss Juanita and Cedarwood are designated as instrument vessels, carrying electronic equipment needed for surveys. The M. J. Scanlon will carry explosives and the Joan Lindsay will have scientific observers aboard.

Under an agreement with the federal fisheries department, observers will accompany the survey flotilla to ensure fish are protected during underwater detonation of explosives. Operations will begin off the southern tip of Vancouver Island, ranging about 35 miles offshore and will proceed northward to the northern end of the island. Then the flotilla will survey Hecate Strait, culminating at Prince Rupert about the end of August.

The project will employ 70 men, including the crews of the ships and the surveying teams. The ships will spend periods of about 10 days at sea, followed by five or six days in port.

EDMONTON MAN GUILTY OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT

NANAIMO (CP)—Robert Glen Ward, 23, of Edmonton, was found guilty of criminal assault by an Assize Court jury Thursday night in a case involving an attack on a 27-year-old mother of three children last September.

Evidence was that the woman was dragged into the bedroom of a home where she was babysitting for a neighbor.

The jury deliberated for more than five hours and at one point returned to the courtroom for guidance on the evidence before reaching its guilty verdict.

Ward will be sentenced today.

NDP Rules Out Long Weekend

Barrage of Questions Keeps Commons Working

OTTAWA (CP)—With almost military precision, Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming) and Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) continued to take turns jumping to their feet Thursday night to ward off the passage of supplementary estimates with a barrage of questions.

They also had help from Mirido Martin (NDP—Timmins) as the NDP members stuck to their promise that they were going to let no estimates through the Commons without adequate examination.

And any thoughts members had of a long weekend—in lieu of a washed-out Easter recess—appeared to disappear under the welter of estimates still to be passed. Less than a third of them have gone through since Monday, with some of the more major departments—such as defence—still to come.

WIDE RANGE

Thursday night with the immigration department and the civil service commission on the firing line, comments ranged from bilingualism to possible copyrights on Indian handicrafts.

The NDP members handed the government platefuls of problems which, they said, needed some looking into.

How, asked Mr. Peters, do Indians protect themselves against the importation of facsimiles of their products?

OVERLY STRICT

Mr. Howard commented that there has been a tendency to run the Indian affairs branch like a military detachment and there was "overly strict rigidity which prevents that department from doing anything worthwhile."

Mr. Martin went to bat for an unnamed Polish war veteran who, he said, is being denied admittance to Canada because a sister-in-law in this country is a well-known Communist.

As the searching examination of the estimates continued, one of the most spirited contributions of the night came from Quebec Conservative Louis-Joseph Pigeon who said that unless he got an answer to a question he would block a government spending item for "three weeks or a month."

BILINGUALISM

What he wanted to know was whether English-French bilingual ability in the civil service is going to be rewarded with a bonus.

Mr. Pigeon, member for Joliette—l'Assomption—Montreal, said such a bonus had been promised by State Secretary Lamontagne, and he quoted Justice Minister Favreau as saying the French-speaking section of Ottawa's civil service felt thwarted and frustrated.

The only estimates that drew

Negroes Mourn at White Friend's Coffin

NEW YORK (AP)—About 20 Negro children stood in front of the white man's coffin and sang, with tears streaming down their faces, "Take The Lord With You Wherever You Go."

The dead man was David Watts, 29, small, fair and blue-eyed. Last week he was stabbed in the heart by an unknown Negro mugger on a Harlem street.

There were 500 Negroes at his funeral Wednesday night, and about a dozen whites—including his mother, whose air ticket from Seattle, Wash., was paid for by a Negro congregation.

Watts appeared in New York seven years ago. He joined the Advent Sabbath Church in Harlem, the lone white member, and taught a Sunday school class.

He walked about Harlem distributing religious literature, and kissing everybody he spoke to.

"I never approved of it," said his mother, Vera Mahoney, of her son's kissing custom. "But David just loved everybody. He always had a feeling for the person that was the underdog."

"He taught us how to sing real good and he went swimming with us. He was just like my own father," said a Negro boy.

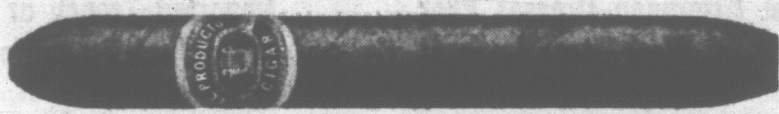

A reporter asked the police about Watts.

"You get a young white guy wandering around Harlem followed everywhere he goes by kids and you check him out pretty good," said the officer. "David Watts was a wonderful man."

The police have assigned 25 men to find the killer. "He belonged to all of us," said Rev. Thomas Hughes, pastor of the church Watts attended, and one of 19 ministers and evangelists at the funeral.

'Crying Kids Hung On to Poles'

The letter from Anchorage, Alaska, arrived at 1932 St. Ann Street and it opened with simple starkness.

"I can't think where to begin. Ron and I are living with Jean and Bill. Our apartment is gone and so is the car. We expect the insurance to replace the car."

"We managed to salvage everything from the apartment that wasn't broken."

But for Mr. and Mrs. N. D. McKennie here in Oak Bay the letter confirmed good news, their second daughter, Ann—best known here as a track star for Oak Bay Senior High School in 1958—was safe too.

Their two daughters, Mrs. Ronald (Ann) Smith and Mrs. M. (Joan) Montgomery, who had delivered a baby only two weeks before the Easter weekend earthquake, are both living in Anchorage.

Mrs. McKennie's brother, W. D. Renfro, also lives there and survived the disaster. By coincidence, their father lived through the San Francisco earthquake 50 years ago.

But for the McKennies, Easter weekend "was just agonizing," Mrs. McKennie recalled in an interview.

"The worry almost made us old people overnight before we got phone calls from strangers from Seattle and Vancouver—I guess they were people from Anchorage who were able to fly out after the quake—saying Joan and Ann were safe."

stayed city without power, telephones, heat or water.

She said that many persons are leaving Anchorage but most are staying.

"We are planning to stay here this summer and work as there will be lots to do to get this place in shape again."

Ann closed her letter like a true citizen of the frontier: "We are going apartment hunting again."

"Hope you all had a happy Easter—that rabbit sure made a heavy hop."

Arthur Mayse

While this corner rarely finds itself in agreement with Education Minister Leslie Peterson, it must second the minister's decision to retain prayer and Bible readings in our public schools with a reluctant amen.

British Columbia teachers in convention have indicated by majority vote that they consider the biblical religious observance in our schools a waste of time; and certainly, the prayers with which parliament launches its seasonal day do not always appear to guide the actions of Mr. Peterson and his fellow legislators.

Even so, it seems to me that the education minister is right, and that the teachers—to an accompaniment of liberalistic bawling about U.S. wickedness toward Cuba—like sheep have gone astray.

By their proposed dropping of Lord's prayer and Ten Commandments, they would edge us a step nearer to the vacuum of the spirit which is the real threat posed by America to western culture.

Admittedly, the perfunctory recital which starts each public school day is unlikely to inspire religious fervor. Apart from wedding and funeral, however, it is the only contact a great many of our young are likely to make with the accepted faith of their country.

This being so, I think we might tolerate the 25-minute-a-week intrusion of church into state until we can offer satisfactory alternatives.

A five-minute disc workout with the Beatles or their successors in juvenile esteem? How does that strike you?

Or a capsule lecture on do-it-yourself psychiatry?

Hairdressing hints for girls, driving tips for boys, or simply more time for study?

Personally, I fail to see any of these as acceptable substitutes for the Bible itself. I think even this token gesture against absolute materialism is better than none.

As a matter of economic necessity, we must be wagged to some extent by the United States. But not, I think, in this particular attitude.

Today as a people, we stand in danger of descending into a paganism more sterile than any this world has yet known. We bestow the godhead on the things we can get our hands on—the automobile, the modern kitchen, the tangible object of our desire.

I like those objects. Life would be less comfortable without them. But I do not think we should permit them to deaden our sense of a world beyond the world we know. Ours, and our children's.

If you have a son or daughter old enough to deal in abstractions, you might as an experiment ask your child for an opinion on the teachers' resolution.

You may well find that he would also drop mathematics, literature, social studies, or whatever hard but necessary subject he dislikes.

But don't be too surprised if you draw a more thoughtful answer.

Here, as near verbatim as I can recall it, is what one high school student had to say on the subject of religious observance in the schools:

"I think up till the time kids are in, say, Grade 9, they ought to have Bible study along with their other subjects."

"I don't mean just the old gable-gabble, but real teaching, from a teacher who can explain things as he goes along. Parents who object could have their children excused, just as some do for vaccination."

"In high school, I don't think we should have Bible work at all. By the time students are that old, they're pretty well decided what they're going to believe. But I think they should be taught in junior school. If they aren't, how can they choose?"

An over-simple approach to an involved subject? Yes; but to me it makes more sense than the teachers' no-Bible resolution.

Fiji Flood Aid Asked By Former Victoria Doctor

An appeal for help for Fiji flood victims arrived here today from a former Victorian, Dr. Dorothy Keating Clay.

Dr. Clay, who has been practicing in Fiji for 14 years, wrote to Mrs. Alice McLeod, 1221 Rockland, saying the recent torrential rains had destroyed everything and the food supply is critical.

Banana, sugar and tobacco crops have been washed out and homes destroyed. Thousands of hungry persons are lining up at food stations for one meal a day.

Dr. Clay has asked for contributions to be sent to the Fiji Flood Relief Fund, in care of Mr. Ritchie, Government Buildings, Suva, Fiji.

Youngsters with sling shots did about $350 damage to Quadra Elementary School earlier this week.

The damage was reported to city police Thursday.

More than 30 windows were broken by the juveniles.

City police have questioned several boys in connection with the vandalism and the investigation is continuing.

A faulty oil heater is believed to be the cause of a $1,800 fire at Carey Home Service Station, Tillicum and Carey, early Thursday.

The blaze spread up the walls and into the ceiling and in addition caused considerable smoke damage. Two cars in the building received an additional $200 damage each.

A mission to lepers meeting will be held April 10 at 2 p.m. in Central Baptist Church.

Vancouver Island zone Optimist International oratorical finals will be staged Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Optimist Home, 106 Superior.

Competing will be five boys under 15, sponsored by local clubs.

They are Roy Mezger and Greg Windwick, sponsored by Victoria Noon Optimists; Philip Squire, representing Victoria Centennial Optimists, and Dr. O'Connor and John Adams of Oak Bay Optimists.

Winner will compete in district finals to be held later this year in Yakima, Wash.

Pete Seward, 1929 Sooke Road, will be installed as master councillor of Goldstream Chapter, Order of DeMolay, in a public ceremony Saturday at 8 p.m. at John Stubbs Memorial School, Belmont Park.

Other top officers are Jim Shepherd, senior councillor; Larry Bone, junior councillor and Jim Nightingale, deputy junior councillor.

Membership is available to all who have lived in Victoria 70 years or more.

Victoria Branch, B.C. Government Employees' Association, is holding its spring dance tonight at 9 at the Crystal Garden.

Guests will be deputy ministers and their wives.

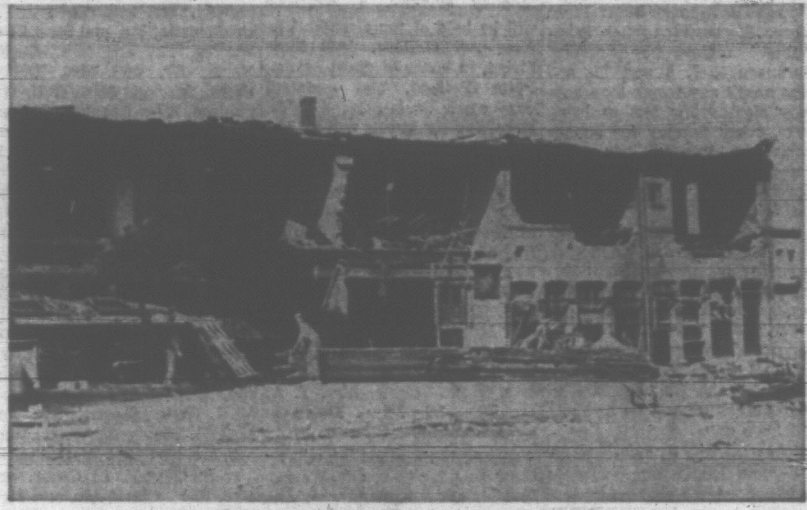

A 10-year-old boy is in fairly good condition today after being hit by a car at Cedar Avenue and Richmond Road Thursday afternoon.

Stanley McInnes, 1682 Derby, ran out in front of a bus stopped at the intersection, Sanich police said. He was hit by a car driven by Ulrich Liedtke, 5843 Old West Road.

The boy suffered head injuries. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Sanich fire department ambulance.

Making Way for Progress

Victoria, not Anchorage, is the locale for these photos showing that man, in a smaller way, is capable of devastation too—a necessary first step in rebuilding Victoria's image. Photo above shows the scene at Fisgard and Government where courtyard of former Chinatown building complex is littered with rubble and salvage as structures are torn down to clear a site for senior citizens' recreation centre.

HOUSE GOING DOWN, parking coming up—one of six houses recently purchased by the city on Caledonia and Julia, at south side of Memorial Arena, almost seems to quiver in pain as bulldozer rams into it. Parking for 180 cars will be created on arena property when demolition is finished. Work is being rushed so that the lot can be cleared and surfaced in time for annual May 11-16 Jaycees exhibition.

DROPPING INTO A MEMORY was the well-known cupola of the 52-year-old Oak Bay boathouse at the instant this photo was taken Thursday afternoon. It broke up with age when pulled off by a crane despite efforts to keep it intact so it could be preserved. New marina will be opened officially April 15. (Times photos by Irving Strickland.)

THOSE MAGIC WORDS!

By MARGE GILROY

"We're ready to take another baby."

That's what every social worker dreams of hearing.

Thursday night Mrs. B. Levitz Packford, social worker at the Family and Children's Service in charge of finding foster homes, heard those words and was startled.

The woman who uttered them is a mother of six and at present foster mother to one.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall had just had their first child when a social worker in Prince George approached them to take care of a seven-year-old retarded child. That was 14 years ago.

THREE MORE Since then they have had three more children of their own, adopted two foster children and cared for many more.

A few friends and relatives find it difficult to understand why the Halls would adopt two children who were of Indian blood, as have been most of the foster children.

Even the Halls don't have any pat answer.

"We're not on any great crusade to save the Indian race," said Mr. Hall.

"We told the social worker we would take care of foster children and they just happened to be Indian," he said.

ANY RACE, CREED

"We are constantly looking for new homes of any race or creed," said Mrs. Packford.

At present there are 400 children in care in the Victoria area and 20 of these children are eligible for adoption but there are no suitable adoption homes available.

In Vancouver adoption applications have decreased by 19 per cent, while the number of unmarried mothers has increased by 15 per cent since 1959.

In Victoria the shortage is not as acute. Mrs. Packford is determined it never will be.

Brentwood Girl Wins B.C. Speaking Title

A 17-year-old Brentwood girl won the B.C. 4-H public speaking contest at Langley on Thursday.

Selena Kelly, 1335 Stelly's Cross Road, a member of the Saanich 4-Home Arts Club, came first of six finalists from the island lower mainland and central B.C.

She was awarded the B.C. Institute of Agronomy trophy and the Vancouver Kiwanis gold medal.

Selena spoke on the "Future of Agriculture."

"She was outstanding," said Jim Hall, district agriculturist at Abbotsford. "The others were first class speakers, but Selena had the edge over them all."

A pupil of Claremont High School, Selena was chosen to represent Vancouver Island after winning the island 4-H public speaking contest last fall.

Cathy Reid of Westbank, was runner-up and received a silver medal.

A bronze medal was awarded to Donna Bryant of Rosedale, who placed third.

Flood Aid Bid Sent to Ottawa

Report on Albernis Wired to Pearson

The provincial government has made a formal request for Ottawa aid to compensate Vancouver Island tidal wave victims.

But B.C. will wait for the results of a full appraisal by independent consultants before submitting a bill.

Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace wired Prime Minister Lester Pearson late on Thursday a report on the situation.

The wire said emergency relief is being handled satisfactorily by local and provincial authorities, and informed Ottawa that Vancouver adjutant E. C. Earle has been hired to supervise a detailed appraisal of damage.

"Federal assistance appreciated and preliminary reports indicate that it will be required," the wire said.

MOP-UP CONTINUES

Meanwhile the big mop-up continued in Alberni and Port Alberni, hardest-hit by tidal waves last Friday after the Alaska earthquake.

Municipal officials said today everything is going smoothly and most of the light work is completed. They wel-

Frost came Thursday night, rain is scheduled for tonight, but after that the weather looks a little better.

Temperature overnight varied between 30 and 39, says weatherman William Mackie, but the city parks department reported plants apparently were not hurt.

Tonight should be milder—about 40—with showers and clouds Saturday.

Southeasterly winds tonight should change to westerly winds Saturday.

Sunday will be "a little better," predicts Mr. Mackie.

At the ski lodge on Green Mountain, the temperature was 28 degrees today.

Two inches of new snow are on top of 210 inches of old snow.

Both towns will be operating on the weekend, the snowmobile will be running to the gully if weather permits, and the road is plowed to the lower parking lot, the lodge reports.

Youths Admit Knife-Point City Holdup

Two youths in their late teens today pleaded guilty to committing robbery with violence and a third reserved his plea until Monday.

The three are charged with using a knife to hold up James Farrell, 777 Fort Street, on Clover Point Thursday night.

The guilty pleas were entered by George Mazerall, 18, and Clifford Le Blanc, 19, and plea was reserved by Ronald Moore, 20. They live at 1315 Stanley.

KNIFE IN RIBS

Mr. Farrell told police he picked up a hitchhiker on Government Street in front of the Empress Hotel and drove to Clover Point on Dallas Road. Mr. Farrell said that when he stopped his car two other youths drove up.

He said one youth stuck a knife in his ribs and said, "Come across."

Mr. Farrell handed over $77.77, all the money he had, and the thieves fled taking the hitchhiker with them.

Mr. Farrell rushed back into the city centre, told a motorcycle policeman and the three accused were picked up minutes later.

Magistrate William Ostler, in court today, remanded all three accused until Monday to await Moore's plea.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Tread Lightly, Mom!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 16-year-old daughter. She is kind, thoughtful and helpful around the house. She wears the key to her diary on a chain around her neck. The other day she forgot it. I don't know what made me do it, Abby, because I have always trusted her but I did an unforgivable thing. I opened her diary and read it. What a shock I got! I was sick inside. You would never believe the things she does outside the house! My problem is, how do I let her know that I know these things about her without telling her that I read her diary? Should I tell her dad about her goings on? It would break his heart as she is our only child.

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: You already know that reading your daughter's diary was "unforgivable." I don't recommend that you tell your daughter. It's apparent that she needs the friendship of a mature, understanding person in whom she can confide. Perhaps it's not too late to build that kind of relationship with her. Try, and try hard; and, if you succeed, she will tell you all about her "goings on" herself. If she doesn't, keep an eye on her. There will be other clues.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is a very outspoken person. When she invites my husband and me to her home for dinner she asks us to leave the children home. She says too much "commotion" makes her nervous. Ours are 5, 7, 8 and 19, and they aren't any worse than anybody else's. She lets us bring them every Sunday for supper when she has all her other grandchildren there. There are eleven in all, and I wonder why the "commotion" doesn't make her nervous then. I am ready to tell my husband if his mother doesn't want my children during the week, she doesn't have to put up with them on Sundays, either. Am I wrong?

MEDELLE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes, you are wrong. Take the children to your grandmother's on Sundays and keep quiet.

DEAR ABBY: I live in a small town and would like to know how one goes about making a donation to the HEART FUND or the CANCER SOCIETY at the time of death when the family requests a donation instead of flowers. How is the family made aware of the donation? I am sure there are others who would like to know, too. Thank you.

UNCERTAIN IN TANKTOWN

DEAR UNCERTAIN: Check for address of local headquarters and consult them. I'm sure they will let the bereaved family know of the donation and who sent it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SANDRA: When a man tells you that he is poor marriage material—believe him. He knows himself better than you know him.

Get it off your chest. For a personal unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Boys and Men Are People —Think of Them As Friends

Q. "I read your column about tips for women to please men. What about girls? Do boys like ratted or teased hair? Do they like for girls to wear slacks and shorts? Do they like for girls to show that they like them?"

A. Well, I haven't had a chance to talk with many teenagers of the opposite sex, but I have known quite a few so I am partly guessing.

I do not think that boys like hair which is ratted or teased into monstrous hairdos. I don't think that they mind slacks and they take it for granted that girls will wear shorts. I do not think that they have any feeling or prejudice about this.

Certainly I think that boys like to know that a girl likes them. They do not want her to be possessive or chase them. That really scares them away.

Sometimes I think that girls and women act as though boys and men do not belong to the human race, that they are strange different creatures. They are just like we are.

A. Of course you can have the trouble with the lids for other reasons. However, it seems likely that the dandruff has been passed on from the scalp to the brows and lashes. There is medication for this. However, it must be prescribed by a physician. I suggest that you see a skin specialist.

Dear Mrs. R.A.: The slide fastener closing is often eliminated from the side seams of a garment because it tends to add extra bulk and width to the figure (and who needs that!). Place the slide fastener on your side back seam just as if it were the side seam, using the same directional opening. In a recent issue of a French fashion magazine, there was a sketch of an original Chanel suit, and the slide fastener was on the front panel. This looked strange to me, but designers will do almost anything to be different.

Change In Weather Calls For Light Luncheon Menus By PENNY SAVER

Just as warmer weather draws women to luncheons, teas and garden parties, so it calls for lighter lunches for hubby and children.

Cold plates and sandwiches are rapidly taking the place of hot soups and casserole dishes. To add zest to these lighter lunches, why not try a variety of breads and cakes?

For those who pack lunches to school or office, an extra special treat for coffee time or dessert is always appreciated. Shop I was in this morning sells a variety of small cakes ideal for this purpose.

Selling at six for 35 cents and six for 40 cents are delicious plain and chocolate hazelnut cakes. These tasty cakes have a French cream filling, which is similar to marshmallow, between two crisp biscuits made with ground hazelnuts.

Taste-tempting pineapple crescents are priced at six for 45 cents. These are a delightful combination of white sponge cake iced in butter-cream and dipped in dark milk chocolate then topped with a pineapple slice.

Ordinary sandwich fillings will take on a new flavor when they are used with any one of the variety of breads sold here. As well as the popular Boston brown, buttercrust, French, Hovis and ordinary white and brown loaves, shop sells a vast selection of fancy breads.

Among these is its own "m-t-e-e seven" loaf which is a mixture of whole wheat flours that give the bread a very fine and light texture. Price is 23 cents a loaf.

Also in the specialty line are peasant bread, a mixture of coarse grain flours; raisin, cinnamon loaf and fruit loaf.

All breads are made right on the premises. On weekends shop features a cake specially priced at 55 cents, and garlic and cheese sticks priced at 20 cents each.

If you are interested in adding variety to your luncheon menu, call Penny at 382-3131.

Pink gladioli and white carnations were at the altar and pews were marked with pink carnations. Rino Elverhoy sang "Ave Maria" and "I'll Walk With God" during the signing of the register.

BROCADE GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of embroidered brocade that featured a scoop neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. The skirt was softly full and accented at back waistline with a fabric bow. A coronet of teardrop pearls and sparkling paillettes held the full-length veil of silk illusion net. Bows of white ribbon highlighted the red rose bouquet. Only jewelry was a gold cross necklace, gift of the groom.

Senior attendants wore street-length gowns of deep pink peau de sole and white feathered headpieces, skirted with pink net. Their bouquets were pink carnations. Maid of honor was Miss Shirley Chatfield, the bride's sister; bridesmaid, Miss

Premier's Wife Stays Aloof From Politics

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of the man who has headed British Columbia's Social Credit government since 1952, has one cardinal rule: Keep a comfortable home for him but stay out of his political life.

You can help your husband by staying at home, calm, collected and ready to cheer him up when he arrives, says May Bennett.

She admits political meetings make her nervous, especially when it's her husband getting a verbal lambasting on the platform. She used to go to meetings in her husband's early politicking days but "if they started heckling I would get upset."

Mrs. Bennett never makes speeches herself, except a few words at teas and the like, and never listens to the premier's radio or TV addresses, even at election time.

Asked why she thinks wives should stay out of their husband's political career, she replied: "That's his job. You wouldn't go to his office or his store, now would you?"

Mrs. Bennett was born May Richards in a small Vancouver Island community near Nanaimo. Her family moved to rural Alberta when she was a child and she remembers the bitter winter cold and going to school with a brother in a horse and buggy.

Then the family went to Edmonton and May Richards became a school teacher. She also joined an inter-denominational young people's group and met Cecil Bennett, then called Bill by most of his friends.

She taught elementary school for 12 years before her marriage and has ideas about education based on her own experience. Children "should not be pushed" into the world too soon, she says, and the bright ones should not be separated from the not-so-bright in classes—"children can be cruel if you are in the dumb class."

The Bennetts were married 27 years ago and moved to Westlock, Alta., where the young Mr. Bennett had a hardware store. Their daughter Nita—now Mrs. G. A. Tozer and a high school teacher in Westbank, B.C.—was born there.

The family moved to Kelowna, B.C., in the Okanagan Valley soon after.

They have lived almost continually since then in the family residence, "Brookside," in Kelowna. Sons Russell—called R. J. because his sister Nita couldn't say Russell—and Bill were born there and now run the family business in Kelowna.

Mrs. Bennett is also mistress of two other Bennett residences—both modest. One is a medium-size apartment overlooking picturesque Oak Bay in Victoria and used when the premier is working in the capital.

The other is a charming timbered cottage on Salt Spring Island in the Gulf of Georgia where the Bennetts often spend summer weekends.

Receives Names

The eight-month-old son of LAC J. S. Boyle, RCAF, and Mrs. Boyle received the names, James Thomas, when Rev. E. W. S. Gilbert officiated at a baptism ceremony in Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday.

Godparents of the little boy are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. W. Sharpe, all of Victoria. Following the ceremony a tea for relatives and friends was held in the Bushby Street home of the baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. E. Hawkins. LAC and Mrs. Boyle, James and the Boyles' six-year-old daughter, Susan, are presently house guests of Mrs. Hawkins. They will return to their home at Cold Lake, Alta., on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Chekoluk, 812 Craigflower Road, have announced the forthcoming marriage of their eldest daughter, Emily Frances, to Mr. Bruce David Talbot, eldest son of Mrs. Vera Talbot, 880 Colville Road, and the late Mr. Talbot. The wedding will take place on May 9 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church with Rev. J. A. Roberts officiating. (Photo by Gibson's Studio.)

VANCOUVER DANCER WARMLY PRAISED

Lynn Seymour Dances Fonteyn Role

LONDON (CP)—Canada's Lynn Seymour stepped confidently into a role created for Margot Fonteyn in a Royal Ballet production of Hamlet Thursday night and won prolonged applause from the Covent Garden audience.

The 24-year-old Vancouver-trained ballerina danced the part of Ophelia, opposite Rudolph Nureyev in the title role.

Miss Seymour, holding an elaborate bouquet and wearing a pale green dress, smiled broadly as she stood hand-in-hand with Nureyev while the company took more than a dozen curtain calls.

The black-tie audience obviously was enchanted by the principals, which included Leslie Edwards as the ghost and Monica Manson as Hamlet's mother, as well as with the production as a whole.

The ballet was the climax of a Shakespearean triple bill put on by the company as part of this year's celebrations marking the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth.

Hamlet, set to Tchaikovsky's music, was written by Robert Helpmann in 1942.

Earlier Miss Seymour danced opposite Nureyev and Christopher Gable in two sequences from a nine-part medley by Kenneth Macmillan called Images of Love.

The evening opened with the first production of a ballet called The Dream, adapted by Frederick Ashton from A Midsummer Night's Dream with music by Mendelssohn.

Morning newspaper critics praised Miss Seymour.

The critic of The Times of London draws attention to the "ambivalent emotional triangle" in Images of Love by Miss Seymour, Nureyev and Gable and says it was "potently imagined."

The Daily Mail critic, Oleg Kerensky, says he believes Images of Love will arouse the most argument among the three ballets.

The Guardian of Manchester critic, James Kennedy, speaks of "one strange, enthralling pas-de-deux for Lynn Seymour and Christopher Gable."

Racial Tensions Ease in Florida

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Racial tensions appeared to ease today while a civil rights lawyer prepared to appeal a federal judge's refusal to take jurisdiction in the state's cases against demonstrators.

The lack of arrests Thursday and the departure today of a prominent demonstrator apparently marked a temporary halt to demonstrations.

Police arrested 285 persons between last Saturday and Wednesday, mostly for violations of the state's trespass laws.

Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, 72, mother of Massachusetts Governor Endicott Peabody, was scheduled to fly back to Boston today. She spent two days in jail on trespass charges and put up a $450 bond for her release.

The lull started Thursday when lawyers, Mrs. Peabody and other witnesses went to Jacksonville in an effort to have the federal court take jurisdiction in the state's cases against the jailed demonstrators.

JUDGE REFUSES

However, U.S. district Judge Bryan Simpson refused to take jurisdiction, saying regular county courts could handle the cases.

Simpson also refused to issue an injunction barring the St. Augustine police department from using trained police dogs for the control and breaking up of integration demonstrations.

The appeal was made by Mrs. Peabody and two other New England church women.

Meantime, William Kunstler, New York lawyer specializing in civil rights cases, said he would appeal Simpson's ruling to the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Kunstler said he would seek a federal court order stopping trials of the 285 demonstrators until the appeals court rules on his petition. He also said he would file a federal suit to test the state's trespass laws and their application.

Mrs. Peabody testified in court that she joined the integration movement because "all my life I have been concerned with discrimination and injustice. . . . Talking hasn't done any good."

She was arrested with a group of Negroes and whites while staging a sit-in demonstration at the Ponce de Leon Motor Lodge.

Rights Bill Talk Goes On

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate continued debate Thursday on the 11-point U.S. civil rights bill, with Senator Jacob K. Javits, a New York Republican, urging that it be amended to protect civil rights demonstrators from police dogs and cattle prods.

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, a Democrat, also urged strengthening of the bill.

In a three-hour speech Javits attacked what he called police brutality against demonstrators. He referred particularly to use of police dogs and electrically charged cattle prods.

GRANDMOTHER'S $3,000 GIFT

Youths Admit Theft Of Secret Savings

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four youthful burglars confessed to stealing $3,000 Thursday after hearing that the money they had taken represented years of secret saving by a woman for her deaf and dumb grandchild.

The burglars admitted taking the money from the grandmother's home when police were questioning them about another crime.

The four confessed when they heard how Mrs. Carl Pudlas had scrimped and saved money out of her housekeeping allowance so she could help her four-year-old granddaughter, Cathie.

Three youths have been handed over to juvenile authorities and the fourth will appear in magistrate's court.

Police said later they recovered $2,250 of the money.

Mrs. Pudlas said she had returned from church to find the suitcase containing her savings had gone, and it was only after the theft that her husband learned how she had been quietly saving money for her granddaughter over the years.

"She is such a happy lively little girl," Mrs. Pudlas said.

"The doctors say they can't operate on her just yet, but maybe in about 10 years time they will be able to. If it is possible, I want to have the money ready for her."

Cathie's mother, Mrs. A. G. Pudlas, said: "we knew nothing about grandmother saving all this money. It was very nice of her."

Cathie and her parents recently moved here from Prince George so the little girl could get proper treatment.

Seagram's V.O. is still the largest-selling Canadian Whisky in the world!

There are towns in Tibet where no V.O. is sold. But these are greatly outnumbered by the cities, towns and hamlets in 130 countries where V.O. is sold. In fact, more Seagram's V.O. is sold throughout the world than any other whisky exported from any country.

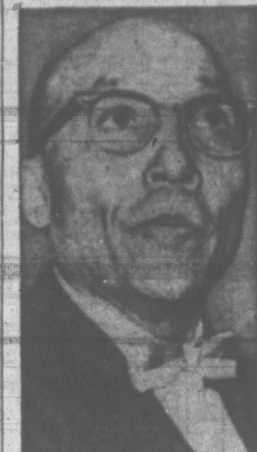

Why? We think it must be the quality of the product. The mellow flavour of Seagram's V.O. combines brilliance of taste with lightness of tone—and this balance of good taste never varies.

As a result, V.O. is enjoyed by a world of people from Karachi to Killarney. So remember... V.O., V.O., where ever you are!

BLACK MUSLIM ASKS $1 MILLION DAMAGES

ELIJAH MUHAMMAD police were armed

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Elijah Muhammad, national leader of the Black Muslims, is asking $1,000,000 damages in a suit filed in U.S. district court here Thursday against three Flint police detectives, claiming they violated his constitutional rights by carrying weapons into a Muslim religious rally last Oct. 27.

Named as defendants are Capt. Glenn B. Sommers, head of the detective bureau; Det. Lieut. Victor H. Smith and Det. John Conley, along with Flint city attorney Edward P. Joseph.

Muhammad said the Black Muslims forbid any members to carry weapons and also have a rule against any other persons carrying arms at Muslim meetings.

Russia Blasts U.K. For Strike at Yemen

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The Soviet Union joined three Arab countries Thursday in demanding United Nations condemnation of a British air strike against a border fortress in Yemen. The attack was assailed as "criminal," "barbaric" and "naked aggression."

Britain acknowledged that it had ordered the attack, which took place last Saturday, but sought to justify it as a necessary defensive measure to halt incursions of Yemeni planes over the adjoining territory of the South Arabian Federation.

The exchange took place in the UN Security Council which had met in urgent session at the request of Yemen.

Yemeni delegate Yahya H. Gheghman charged the British attack resulted in the death of 25 persons and in the injury of

'Lost' Witnesses Delay Trial

SEATTLE (AP)—The disappearance of two witnesses has added to the confusion in the John Wasylenchuk murder and robbery trial, the closing stages of which have been spotted with conflicting testimony.

Bulletins went out Thursday to bring back Fred L. Mitchell, Seattle police detective, and Edward Murton, retired Royal Canadian Mounted Police sergeant.

FOR PROSECUTION

Both are prosecution witnesses. The prosecution wanted to recall Mitchell for testimony it believes will show similarities between the Seattle bank robbery Wasylenchuk is accused of and Canadian robberies involving the defendant. The defence sought to have Murton testify, believing he would add credence to its contention Wasylenchuk was at his Burnaby home March 12, 1954, when three gunmen held up the Seattle bank, 130 miles away, and shot three policemen, killing one.

"I can't understand why a police officer can leave without permission," Judge William J. Lindberg said, referring to Mitchell. Lindberg had told the jury he expected it could get the case for deliberation late Thursday, but the disappearance of the witnesses held the finale up at least another day.

Defence Attorney Erle Horswill said he had been informed

Murton "was told to leave" and was driving to Spokane. He charged the prosecution did not call Murton, although it subpoenaed him, because it "learned his testimony would favor the defence."

Special prosecutor Brock Adams called Horswill's remarks "highly improper, giving the impression the government has hidden the witness." With permission, he told the jury:

MAKE EFFORT

"We have one witness, Mitchell. We have placed a call out for him. We don't know why he is left without being excused."

... we did not call Murton to the stand because the government believes other evidence covered what he would testify to. But we will make every effort to bring him back also."

Wasylenchuk, two relatives, two friends and another retired RMP sergeant, Ernest Nuttall, have testified Wasylenchuk was at home less than an hour after the Seattle robbery.

An imprisoned convict has testified Wasylenchuk told him of participating in the robbery and of arranging with Nuttall to provide an alibi. Two women eyewitnesses have identified the defendant as one of the robbers.

COULDN'T KNOW

Before the witness-hunt Thursday, the prosecution tried to show Nuttall could not have known of the robbery at the time he said he did. John P. Horton, superintendent of Vancouver police criminal investigation, said official records show word was received of the Seattle robbery at 12:17 p.m.

Nuttall testified through a deposition—illness prevented him from attending the trial—that he learned of the robbery at the police station at about 11:30 and found Wasylenchuk at home shortly before noon.

MILKSHAKE CAR GRILL TURNS SOUR ON YOUTH

A unique hot-rod grill has landed its maker in trouble and in jail.

It was made out of 36 stolen milkshake holders bolted to three steel bars.

Gary Dwight Lamontagne, 18, of 2632 Douglas, admitted to Saanich police he stole three of the chrome holders, and was given the other 33 by friends over eight months to a year.

He pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to possession of stolen goods.

Det. Sgt. Robin Stewart told the court the chrome holders are worth about $48, and were taken from the White Spot drive-in.

Lamontagne was remanded in custody one week while probation report is prepared.

Magistrate William Ostler ordered the holders be returned to the White Spot after they were detached from the bars.

Mrs. Peabody Freed

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI)—Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, looking cheerful after 24 hours behind bars, said Wednesday she hoped her civil rights protest and subsequent arrest had "done some good." The 72-year-old mother of Massachusetts Governor Endicott Peabody appeared on the steps of the St. John's County Jail to hold an impromptu news conference prior to her release.

A request for more public lavatories from the Senior Citizens Campaign Council Thursday was received and filed "for future reference" by city health and welfare committee.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Oscar time is a special time of the year in Hollywood. This is when the movie industry takes itself very seriously and "pats itself on the back."

It is so special and serious that the annual dole of Academy Award statuette is televised on an international scale to millions of homes. This year's awards will be seen on CBC-TV, Monday, April 13.

The program Hollywood and the Stars traces the history of the Oscar in a two-part series over the past couple of weeks.

The series shows film clips, photographs and newsreel footage of early award dinners, the first Oscar handout in 1927 and subsequent ceremonies and activities through the mid '50's.

In the second part of the series Wednesday, viewers were shown the five movies in the current race for the gold statuette. . . well, they're not quite all gold.

Oscar is really 92 per cent tin and has a 14 carat gold overlay. He's worth only $250 and can't be sold or pawned by the recipients when down on their luck. He can only be sold back to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for a nominal ten bucks.

Headliners

7:30: Channel 5: International Showtime presents an "Ice Extravaganza" featuring Russian folk dancers

Narrator Joseph Cotton, in the second program, poked delicious fun at winners' reactions. He showed a series of films of winners on their way from their seats to the dais to receive their hardware. With tongue-in-cheek, he described the Susan Hayward bustle, the Gregory Peck pace and the studied William Holden stroll.

Also high on the ninth list was a series of film clips showing the winners kissing the awarders during that joyous "moment of truth." One scene caught two actors kissing each other in the excitement. Cotton commented dryly: "In Hollywood anything is possible." Hollywood and the Stars faces Madame Guillotine this season. More's the pity. The David L. Wolper production contributed a weekly half-hour of interest and was catching on with more and more viewers.

TID BITS: They're going to trim some regulars from Wagon Train now that the 90-minute script is reverting to 60 for the next season. Getting scripts is tough because producer Howard Christie doesn't yet know which of the regulars will bite the dust.

Humor writer H. Allen Smith is moving into television with a series based on his "Rhubarb" theme, that cat that bought a ball club and got richer than a Rockefeller.

Kidney Donor Finds Patient Improving

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. James Ackworth, a 44-year-old grandmother, visited Donald Bainbridge yesterday, five days after she gave him one of her kidneys to save his life.
Dr. B. D. Ragula, Mr. Bainbridge's physician, said the kidney, which was transplanted to the body of the 21-year-old man last Saturday, is functioning "close to normal."

SITS UP, SHAVES
Mr. Bainbridge was reported eating well and yesterday sat up and shaved himself for the second time since the operation.

Doctors continue to stress that it will be at least two weeks before it can be determined whether the transplant is successful.

Mrs. Ackworth volunteered her kidney when she heard that Mr. Bainbridge would die, possibly within a month, of glomerulo-nephritis, in which waste products are not filtered from the body by the kidneys.

TREND SLOW BUT STEADY

E. Germans Resume Church Attendance

EAST BERLIN (Reuters) — A slow but steady move back to the church has been noticed in Communist East Germany in recent months.

Clerics of the numerically dominant Evangelical Church are pleased and surprised to see increased congregations and heavier collection plates.

Precise statistics are almost impossible to obtain, because the Evangelical Church of Germany remains one church, partly in West and partly in East Germany. No separate figures are compiled for membership in the Eastern section.

But the incumbent of one leading church near Berlin said recently:
"The fall-away of church attendance since the war appears to us now to have levelled off and perhaps even to be on the upgrade."

"The fall-away, which was at times quite steep, can be attributed to three factors:
"1. The stream of East Germans who went over to the West before the building of the wall. (An estimated 3,000,000 left between 1949 and 1961.) We are sure that many of these were anti-Communist and church worshippers.
"2. There was, and still is,

Justice Charged With Lying

MONTREAL (CP) — A summons was issued Thursday against Mr. Justice Adrien Meunier of Superior Court and his bid to block legal action by the Crown was rejected.

The summons was issued by Judge Claude Wagner of criminal court, charging Mr. Justice Meunier lied on three occasions while testifying under oath before Judge Wagner at a preliminary hearing in a fraud case arising from a $64,000 bankruptcy.

Mr. Justice Meunier's petition for a writ to halt proceedings against him was turned down meanwhile by Judge Claude Prevost who ruled there was no legal basis for the writ.

Named to the bench last summer, Mr. Justice Meunier had been testifying at the preliminary inquiry about his connection with the case as a defence lawyer before his appointment. The 59-year-old Superior Court judge was also a Liberal member of Parliament for Montreal Papineau.

Judge Wagner presided over the inquiry, held in camera to determine whether there was enough evidence to bring the case before the courts. His precedent-setting judgment recommended that criminal charges be laid against the Superior Court judge and six other persons.

1964 Lawn-Boy grasscatcher ends raking spring, summer and fall

In the spring Lawn-Boy's grasscatcher lets you tidy up the lawn without tedious raking. In the fall it collects leaves. In the summer, of course, it gathers grass so efficiently the neighbours will think you spent hours raking. The grasscatcher is no trouble to use because it comes on and off in seconds and empties in a shake or two. Even wet grass and leaves can't clog it.

Lawn-Boy's Finger-Tip-Start engine is the easiest to start in the world. Pushing is easy because Lawn-Boy is made from ultra-light magnesium. And, to be easy on the ears, Lawn-Boy is extra quiet. Its muffler is the largest on any mower.

See the 1964 Lawn-Boy at your dealer's soon. It's warranted for two full years—twice as long as any other mower.

NEW YORK—Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Burton—oops! Richard Burton—should hit town this Sunday night and we hope New York's Finest will be out in strength at the Hotel Regency to spare Liz from such a roughing-up as she got in Boston...

Liz, who'll bring 55 pieces of luggage, is going to be just plain "Mrs. Burton, the actor's wife," for the three months they're here (till mid-July) but the part will be hard to manage... She's choosing a Christian Dior gown for the NY premiere of "Hamlet" April 9. She'll attend with her parents, the Francis Taylors of LA, and her brother Howard... Ava Gardner'll be there, too... Sybil Burton's returning to England this week... Eddie Fisher's due here from Miami Beach. He and old associate Milton Blackstone are planning big things so that nobody'll say Eddie Who? when he's mentioned. Maybe he and Liz will hold that long-advertised meeting. They'll be only blocks apart and are still business partners... Anyway, with both Liz and the World's Fair here this summer, how could anybody want to leave (except an over-worked newspaperman trying to cover both)?

Xavier Cugat's very sad. He rushed back from Hot Springs to confer with Abbe Lane but found she'd gone to her parents in Miami Beach and he couldn't get her on the phone though another friend did... Sally Ann Howes of "What Makes Sammy Run?" was on "Girl Talk" where Virginia Graham introduced her as "A Howes who's not a home"... Fellow journalists' attention: Charles Aznavour, the red hot French composer and record star, here for a Carnegie Hall concert Saturday, made the Luchow's and Trude Heller scene—then got a date. "He has to see lots of girls," his manager said. "It's necessary for his writing!"... Lynn Gregory, kookie-type TV comedienne, misses no job chances. Seeing Paul Newman motorcycleing down Park Av., she flagged him down, reminded him she was a baby-sitter for him in Fresh Meadows, Queens, once, and asked his help to get her an interview at Actors Studio. He said he would.

A squelch for your partner, wife or too-fresh friend: "You have a photographic brain. Too bad it never developed." (Ad Art, Minneapolis.)

The Beatles are selling two-thirds of the records in the U.S. today. They lead both in singles and albums... HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Sandra Busits, age 7, of Allentown, Pa., for her question:

Where did the almond tree come from?

The stately almond tree grows in many parks and gardens across the land. In early spring, its brown twigs are smothered with sweet, papery blossoms. In the fall, the tree may bear almond nuts. But this happens only where the weather is warm, like the weather where the first almond trees grew.

We know that the almond tree grew in Palestine thousands of years ago, for we read about it in the Bible. Palestine is near the warm Mediterranean Sea. The countries in this part of the world have hot summers and mild winters, and there are no frosty mornings in the spring. This is the kind of weather that an almond tree likes, and the experts think that the first almond trees grew near the warm Mediterranean Sea.

This was long, long ago, even before Bible days. Later, almond trees were taken to other lands. Some were coaxed to grow in warm countries of western Asia. Not so long ago, almond trees were brought to America. They decorate many of our parks and gardens.

A full-grown almond tree may be as high as three tall men. In the fall, it sheds its leaves. In early spring, the trees around it sprout forth leafy buds of tender green. But the almond tree welcomes the first breath of spring with a mass of pink or white blossoms. Its leafy green buds open later.

When the papery petals fall, the blossoms plan to grow a harvest of almond nuts. But this cannot happen if they have been touched by frost. Almond trees will grow and sprout their pretty flowers in many parts of America, but they can grow a harvest of nuts only in places where there are no frosty mornings in the spring.

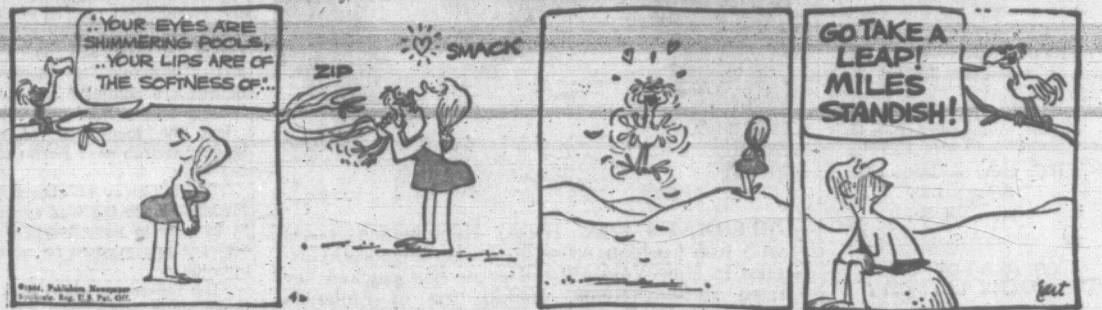

Oil Used for Face Cream

As a rule there are no frosty spring mornings in California. The early almond blossoms are safe. When their papery petals fall to the ground, the tree can go right ahead and grow its delicious almond nuts. This is why most of our almond nuts are grown and harvested in sunny California. There the frost-free springtime is very much like the gentle weather in the lands where the first almond trees grew.

The trees that welcome the spring with apple-pink blossoms bear sweet almond nuts. We eat them raw or roasted and sprinkled with salt. They may be crushed to paste and used to make party cakes and other goodies. The trees that grow papery white blossoms bear bitter almonds with a bitter poison, and we cannot eat them. But their oil can be squeezed out, and the poison can be taken away. This oil may be used to add almond flavoring to foods and drinks.

Esquimalt Police Seek End Of Fire-Fighting Duties

Esquimalt police force will go before a conciliation board Monday seeking relief from fire-fighting duties and a pay request for time-and-a-half for overtime.

Earnings Jump

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (CP) —The Minnesota and Ontario Paper Co. reports sales of $85,311,981 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1963, compared with sales the previous year of $81,895,398. Dividends per share were unchanged at $1.

Working capital stood at $25,537,901 compared with $22,528,634.

The company had net earnings for the year of $4,925,691 or $1.91 compared with $4,329,597 or $1.68 a share in 1962.

The municipality's policemen also double as firemen but receive no overtime pay. However they do receive time off for the overtime they put in.

"The men don't like to put in overtime doing fire drills, but it should be pointed out that is what they signed on for," Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today.

"Esquimalt is a growing municipality and a separate fire department will come about eventually. This year we will put before council plans for a new fire hall to house our new equipment."

Basic wage requests have been settled and Esquimalt force members have now been given parity wages with city police. Constables now earn $487 a month.

Reeve Wurtele also stated the municipal force must give two months' notice in late October so the fire-fighting agreement could be terminated at the end of a calendar year.

The conciliation board meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in Victoria Law Courts.

Principle negotiators will be union representatives Lorne Shandley of Victoria police, Eric Simmons of Victoria fire department, and lawyer Kenneth Murphy, representing the municipality.

French Mill Buys Local Log Barker

A $25,000 mechanical log barker has been built by a Victoria firm for a sawmill in France.

Ed Brown, manager of Nicholson-Murdie Machines Ltd., 327 Harbour Road, says the 30,000-pound machine will be used at Gerardmer in southwest France.

PARIS AGENT

The machine's correct title is the Nicholson Mechanical Log Barker, and it was sold through the company's agent in Paris.

It will be shipped on the Blankenstein from Vancouver to the port of Le Havre, and will be trucked from there to Gerardmer.

This is the latest in a series of foreign sales, says Mr. Brown. Nicholson-Murdie has also supplied whole-log chippers to mills in Barcelona and Finland, and has built other machines for companies in Australia, New Zealand, Sweden and Holland.

U.K. Official To Visit City in May

Britain's minister for Commonwealth relations, the Duke of Devonshire, will visit Victoria in May.

The duke will be in B.C. to open the B.C. International Trade Fair in Vancouver May 13.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes is to give a reception and garden tea for the duke and the officials of the fair, and will be host to the duke while he is in Victoria.

The visitor is the eleventh Duke of Devonshire, and is the brother of Lady Elizabeth Cavendish, lady-in-waiting to Princess Margaret during her 1958 visit to Victoria.

His grandfather, the ninth duke, was governor-general of Canada from 1916 to 1921.

The fair the duke will open runs for 10 days in Exhibition Park.

It has attracted 15 governments and more than 100 individual exhibitors. They will be housed in five large buildings.

Scotswoman Fights to Enter Canada

EDINBURGH (CP) — A 60-year-old Scotswoman who was refused permission by Canadian immigration authorities to take up residence with her son in Vancouver is flying to Canada today for a visit.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGarvie of Edinburgh said she has sold her home and belongings to raise £400 for the trip for herself and her 18-year-old daughter, Joyce.

20 YEARS AGO

"If the immigration authorities send me back here I will not have a penny in the world," she said.

Her son David, 37, organizer of the Hong Kong Seaman's Union in Vancouver where he lives with his wife and six children, has not seen his mother since he emigrated 20 years ago.

Canadian authorities agreed to Joyce emigrating and being sponsored by David, but they turned down her own application, Mrs. McGarvie said.

"I bought a return ticket as I feel this is the only way I am ever going to see my son and grandchildren," she added. "Once I get to Vancouver I will continue my fight to stay."

In Vancouver David McGarvie said refusal to allow his mother to take up residence here is based on revenge.

McGarvie won landed immigration status in 1960 after a bitter battle with immigration authorities.

Antique Shop Too Crowded, Judge States

A charge against antique dealer A. E. Newberry of violating the Fire Marshall Act was dismissed Thursday in city police court on a technicality.

Magistrate William Ostler ruled the charge was drawn up under the wrong section of the act.

But he said he felt a charge properly laid would probably succeed, "and having expressed myself, I will not of course hear the case."

Mr. Newberry was ordered to change the use or occupancy of the premises at 837 Fort by Victoria Fire Chief John Abbot acting in his capacity as assistant fire marshal.

Magistrate Ostler told crown prosecutor Peter Birkett the charge should have been in connection with the potential fire hazard, rather than the section about use and occupancy.

Chief Abbot told the court he had investigated the premises and had found the rear emergency door completely blocked, the aisle too narrow, and the front door partly blocked with furniture.

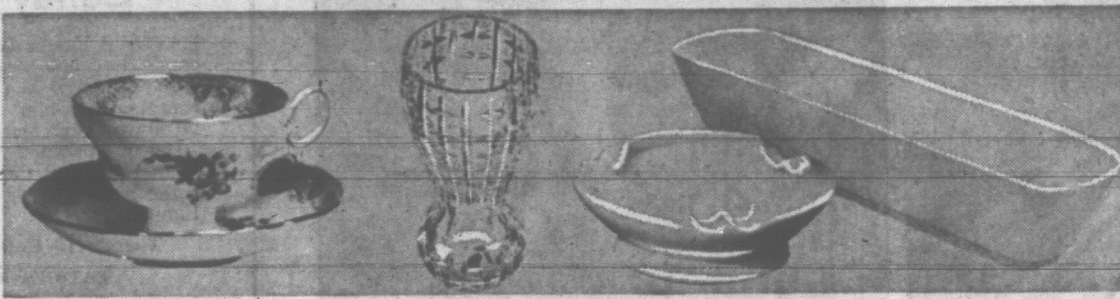

The aisle, he said, was "totally inadequate for use in an emergency, such as fire."

The store was visited on Jan. 15, Jan. 31 and Feb. 19 of this year, and the situation was not remedied to Chief Abbot's satisfaction during that time, and his order was not complied with, he said.

Defence counsel Edmond Jorje St. Jorre called no evidence.

Lesage Skillful Player in Federalism Game

By James Nelson
(See story Page 8)

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec emerged from the three-day federal-provincial conference as the man to watch—even more so than Premier John Robarts of Ontario—in the political tennis game of current inter-governmental affairs.

He lobbed more balls back over the net into the federal court, and with more telling effect, than any other player in the match. The fact that he is a Liberal, and Mr. Robarts a Conservative, added to the attention he won in the game with the Ottawa Liberal government.

Before this conference opened Tuesday, Mr. Robarts seemed to qualify as a cup contender because of his stance on the Canada Pension Plan. He kept the Ottawa Liberals off pace by questioning details in the federally-sponsored universal contributory retirement pensions plan without definitely declaring whether he is for it or against it.

Mr. Lesage, on the other hand, had been playing it calmly. He had on his side a resolution of the Quebec legislature committing him to a provincial retirement pension plan with similar benefits and which, he told the conference, could be integrated with the federal plan.

The Ottawa team said that was fine.

When the conference met, Mr. Robarts said if Mr. Lesage wanted to watch the game instead of playing in it, he should be permitted to do so too. Prime Minister Pearson, leading the players on the other side, said that was of course within the rules of the game—every player would be treated alike.

But Mr. Robarts also said that whatever happens, Ontario will have a contributory pension plan—if not the one the federal government is sponsoring, one of Ontario's own making. Before committing himself, he would wait and see what happens to the Canada Pensions Plan in Commons committee.

That put that ball back into the federal court.

Meanwhile, Mr. Lesage responded to two other fast serves. One was the announcement in Finance Minister Gordon's budget speech that Ottawa will pay $10 a month family allowances for anyone 16 or 17 years old who continued in school. The other was Ottawa's intention to make interest-free loans available for university students.

Both of these, Mr. Lesage said, had overtones of federal intervention in provincial educational affairs. During Mr. Lesage's post-conference press briefing it was apparent he scored with the reporters present from outside Quebec with these two points:

1. He regards himself as the leader of a province—with a population which is predominantly French-speaking and Catholic—in a minority position, as opposed to the other nine provinces and for this reason he must be on special guard for the protection of Quebec's position at all times.

2. As a lawyer, he has a view of federal-provincial affairs that requires a lawyer's analytical examination to follow. It is quite all right, he said, as a help to family life for the federal government to pay family allowances to the mothers of children up to the age of 16, but the new federal plan is one designed to encourage families to keep their children of 16 and 17 in school and this is an invasion of exclusive provincial rights in the field of education.

Mr. Lesage said—he disowned any suggestion that it was a threat—that his government would challenge in the law courts any invasion of provincial rights by any legislation passed by the federal Parliament touching on education.

This was the Quebec premier's dramatic power play. Actually, it is a course that is open to any other government or any individual at any time. The vehemence with which he denied it is a threat emphasized how seriously he regards his duty, as he called it, to protect the province's constitutional position.

And so the two challenges to Quebec's educational autonomy were lobbed back into the federal court. The final official communiqué of the conference said the federal government agreed to re-study the student loan and student family allowance questions before proceeding with their plans.

Now the gains and losses are being assessed. The federal government obviously hoped, and perhaps expected, the score at the end of the match would be love-all.

It now has to deal quickly with those balls lobbed over the net into its own court.

THOMPSON SEES SPLIT AMONG GRITS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, said today a breakdown between federal and Quebec Liberals is only weeks away.

Mr. Thompson said Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec has sold down the river any national leadership aspirations he may have had.

Recent statements by Mr. Lesage led Mr. Thompson to question the premier's dedication to seeing Canada remain a nation, he said.

He said he doubted the Canada pension plan would go ahead if both Quebec and Ontario did not participate.

He praised the proposed Bank of British Columbia as a good thing, but doubted if any federal charter would be granted to it, or any of the other new banks, until next year.

SOON AS POSSIBLE

Pearson Stand Firm

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today the federal government remains determined to proceed with the Canada pension plan as early as possible.

Replying in the Commons to opposition questions about the federal-provincial conference at Quebec, he said that as far as the federal government is concerned only Quebec has indicated an intention to proceed with its own provincial plan.

He promised to make a full statement Monday on the conference and its results.

Opposition leader Diefenbaker and T. C. Douglas, New Democratic leader, attempted to get information about federal intentions should Ontario as well as Quebec decide to remain outside the federal plan.

Mr. Pearson said the question was hypothetical. The federal government was working on the assumption that only one province—Quebec—has decided to proceed with its own plan rather than participate in the federal plan.

He said he did not interpret the statements of Premier Robarts of Ontario as indicating any intention to stay out. Mr. Robarts had not actually indicated his government's intentions either after the Quebec conference or since the federal plan was first proposed.

Mr. Diefenbaker, describing the Quebec conference which ended Thursday as a "fiasco," asked Mr. Pearson whether the prime minister sticks by a March 14 statement which Mr. Diefenbaker said, laid down the principle that absence of two provinces would destroy the federal plan.

Or, asked Mr. Diefenbaker, would the federal government go ahead regardless?

Mr. Pearson said he recognizes Mr. Diefenbaker as an authority on conference fiascos but nothing happened at the Quebec conference that will interfere with federal intentions to go ahead with the pension plan without delay.

TOGETHER AT LAST are Joseph A. Flaherty, 41, and the girl who helped him win early release from prison, Frances McKearney, 33, of

EIGHT-YEAR VIGIL ENDS

First Kiss Girl's Reward As Convict Freed at Last

By JAMES CALOGERO

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph A. Flaherty, 41, walked out of state prison a free man today into the arms of his Canadian-born fiancée who helped make his release possible.

Flaherty had served 13 years of a 36 to 46-year sentence for assault, robbery and rape. His friend of eight years, Frances McKearney, 33, formerly of Peace River, Alta., was at the front door to greet him.

For the first time, he held her tightly in his arms, after years of corresponding and brief semi-weekly meetings under heavy supervision in the prison visiting room.

Flaherty's release on parole was possible today with the restoration of 150 days of good-time credit which he lost when he was part of a prison rebellion in 1955.

HELD FOUR GUARDS Flaherty was in a prison gang in the old prison in Charlestown, Mass., that held four guards hostage for 85 hours.

As he left prison today, he was dressed in a dark blue suit which cost $30 to make in the prison tailor shop. He wore a white shirt and grey tie, black shoes and carried a dark blue raincoat.

Miss McKearney, who first learned about Flaherty when she read about his prison escapes, wrote to him at that time and his answers developed a pen-pal friendship which later blossomed into personal visits.

Their professed love had helped in Flaherty's release on parole. She arrived at the prison 10 minutes before he walked out. Flaherty kissed her.

Seattle, Tacoma Eye Power From Columbia

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Tacoma and Seattle city-owned power companies may participate in a multi-million-dollar bloc of power available under the Columbia River Treaty, Tacoma utilities director C. A. Erdahl said today.

He said that Tacoma and Seattle have tentatively offered to purchase up to 50 percent of Canada's treaty entitlement for 30 years, an amount calculated at approximately $254,000,000 worth of kilowatts.

"If Tacoma contracts for the power it would expect to sell it—probably to California—for the first 10 or 15 years," Erdahl said.

"After that it probably would become the lowest cost source of new power available for local load growth requirements."

He said it is also possible Tacoma may participate in a combine of public and private power agencies in underwriting a non-federal high-voltage intertie which would deliver the Canadian treaty power to California.

Erdahl said he will recommend the purchase, provided city engineers agree on its feasibility, that utilities attorneys pass its legality, and that Seattle also goes along.

He said Seattle officials are working closely with Tacoma in an attempt to settle problems involved.

"We want to assure our customers of the best possible future power supply at the lowest possible rates, and it appears that in 10 or 15 years this will be it," he said.

Cost of the power is estimated at 3.75 mills per kilowatt-hour.

Brazil Fears New Strife

Resistance to Mazzilli Regime; Goulart's Whereabouts Unknown

(Times News Services)

RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazil today was faced with a period of interim government in the wake of an apparently successful army revolt that deposed President Joao Goulart.

But incidents of continuing resistance to the new regime of Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli, sworn in Thursday by Congress in Brasilia, were reported.

Mazzilli, 53, a liberal conservative politician, was legally successor to Goulart as president of the Chamber of Deputies.

Under Brazilian law, Mazzilli will serve for 30 days until the legislature elects a new president to serve out Goulart's term, due to expire in January, 1966.

It was reported Goulart fled into the Argentine Thursday from Porto Alegre, capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul. Authorities in Argentine border provinces said, however, Goulart had not entered the country. Airport control towers in Paraguay and Uruguay also were watching for him.

WENT AFTER GOULART

The military leaders of the swift, almost bloodless revolution, who charged that Goulart's leftist policies were leading Brazil into communism, sent six army officers to Sao Borja to arrest him if he remained at his ranch.

Informants said he fled to prevent the bloodshed of a futile resistance.

Only two deaths were reported in the two-day revolution.

Porto Alegre was the focal point of resistance Thursday to the new anti-Communist regime.

The local radio there reported serious incidents between pro and anti-Goulart demonstrators.

Some observers feared the army revolt might touch off guerrilla warfare in Brazil in the weeks and months to come.

Goulart drew most of his support from leftist labor leaders who were reported being armed.

It was indicated in Washington that the interim government would win early recognition from the U.S. government.

Communist Parley Called

(Times News Services)

MOSCOW—Russia today called for a meeting of world Communist parties which informed observers here believed would almost certainly be designed for a showdown in the Sino-Soviet ideological dispute.

In a hard-hitting attack on the Peking government, the Russian party secretary, Mikhail Suslov, called for a meeting to discuss "the basic problems of our time."

The bitter attack, running to about 30,000 words, was spread over seven pages of the Communist party newspaper Pravda and was contained in a previously unpublished speech Suslov made to a party central committee meeting Feb. 14. Pravda also printed an editorial saying a recent increase in Chinese propaganda attacks on Russia was "a terrible insult to our party and the entire Soviet leadership."

The editorial indicted the Chinese leadership for "passing all limits in their political struggle against the world Communist movement."

'Blackmail' Charge Hurdled

The Pravda editorial said the central committee decided to publish Suslov's speech because of Chinese attempts to "blackmail" Communist parties with the threat of a split.

Suslov accused Peking of "openly combatting" the line agreed to by Communist countries in world affairs.

He said all indications were that China's leaders "would like to be able to give orders to the socialist commonwealth as in their own estate, to impose their will on other countries and to dictate the terms on which they would either admit parties and peoples into the socialist system or "excommunicate" them at will.

Suslov recalled the Chinese had persistently sought to obtain the atom bomb from Russia but the Soviet Union's nuclear storehouse was adequate protection for the entire Communist camp.

He said the Chinese had concentrated their fire on Soviet Premier Khrushchev in an attempt to isolate him from the rest of the Russian people and the party leadership.

"This dirty attempt is adventurist and hopeless and doomed to complete and shameful failure," he added.

'Doomed to Shameful Failure'

He said the Chinese were attempting to develop a personality cult around party leader Mao Tse-tung so he, "as Stalin in his time, would be supreme as a god over all Marxist-Leninist parties."

"The Chinese party should know the Communist movement will never repeat the cult of personality, for which it paid such a heavy price," he said.

Suslov said the Chinese leaders suggested to the peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America that a policy of peaceful economic competition was against their interests.

In point of fact, he said, "the growing economic potential of the socialist countries is in their best interest" since it enabled socialist countries to help the developing nations.

He said the curtailment of economic and cultural exchanges with Russia had only one explanation: "The Chinese leaders want to fence their people off from the Soviet Union."

Chinese leaders, Suslov said, "have apparently decided to carry through to the end their subversive activity against the Leninist unity of the world Communist movement."

They spoke of a split as "inevitable," he said, but only those who broke with the "principles of proletarian internationalism" could say that—since a split would inevitably undermine the world socialist system.

Suslov declared: "Today the policy and activity of the Chinese is doomed to shameful failure."

Murder Jury Out

(See Page 21)

SEATTLE (AP)—The fate of John Wasylenchuk, accused of first degree murder and robbery, was turned over to a superior court jury here shortly after noon today.

In his final argument, special government prosecutor Brock Adams said: "This was a particularly brutal crime," and called for the death penalty for the Burnaby, B.C., defendant.

U.S., Panama Agree

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States and Panama agreed today to re-establish diplomatic relations and "to seek the prompt elimination of the causes of conflict between the two countries."

General Holds Own

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's condition remains critical but the emergency treatment started Thursday to try to meet the problem of diminished kidney action is "functioning quite satisfactorily," his doctors reported today.

NEW SOVIET MOVE PUTS NIKITA ON TIGHTROPE

By STANLEY JOHNSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kremlin virtually read the Chinese out of the world Communist movement today, forecasting an era which brings new opportunities and new dangers for the United States and its friends.

How to exploit what appears to be an unbridgeable chasm between Moscow and Peking was a major concern of the White House and state department long before the Soviet Communist party issued its showdown challenge. Now it has become a vital concern.

To most diplomats, it long has seemed inevitable that a definitive break with China would mean the Soviet Union would have to work to improve relations with the West.

Not only does such a break mean the return to the relatively small "socialist camp" of the late 1940s, it also means the Soviet Union must guard the world's longest border against an openly hostile China.

In addition to the United States, firmly opposing Communist expansion to the West, there now is also Communist China, firmly opposing Soviet policy in the East.

RESISTED PRESSURES

Premier Khrushchev must be thanking his lucky stars he resisted all pressures to help China build an atomic bomb.

With its limited resources, faltering agriculture, and pledges to fight imperialism with "goulash"—improved living standards for its people—the Soviet Union will find such a situation an almost unbearable strain unless there is relaxation somewhere.

It could come in Berlin, Cuba, or any point where Moscow and the West are in conflict.

There might be some concessions on disarmament. However, the direct inspection demanded by the West seems further off than ever since the Russians now will want to preserve their secrets from the Chinese as zealously as from the West.

The other side of the coin is just as important, however. The Russians, and Khrushchev in particular, cannot afford to follow a policy which might appear to prove the Chinese charge that Khrushchev is "the

The letter from Anchorage, Alaska, arrived at 1932 St. Ann Street and it opened with simple starkness.

"I can't think where to begin. Ron and I are living with Jean and Bill. Our apartment is gone and so is the car. We expect the insurance to replace the car.

"We managed to salvage everything from the apartment that wasn't broken."

But for Mr. and Mrs. N. D. McKechnie here in Oak Bay the letter confirmed good news, their second daughter, Ann—best known here as a track star for Oak Bay Senior High School in 1958—was safe too.

Their two daughters, Mrs. Ronald (Ann) Smith and Mrs. M. (Joan) Montgomery, who had delivered a baby only two weeks before the Easter weekend earthquake, are both living in Anchorage. Mrs. McKechnie's brother, W. D. Renfro, also lives there and survived the disaster. By coincidence, their father lived through the San Francisco earthquake 50 years ago.

But for the McKechnies, Easter weekend "was just agonizing," Mrs. McKechnie recalled in an interview.

"The worry almost made us old people overnight before we got phone calls from strangers from Seattle and Vancouver—I guess they were people from Anchorage who were able to fly out after the quake—saying Joan and Ann were safe."

stroyed city without power, telephones, heat or water.

She said that many persons are leaving Anchorage but most are staying.

"We are planning to stay here this summer and work as there will be lots to do to get this place in shape again."

Ann closed her letter like a true citizen of the frontier: "We are going apartment hunting again."

"Hope you all had a happy Easter — that rabbit sure made a heavy hop."

Flood Aid Bid Sent to Ottawa

Report on Albernis Wired to Pearson

The provincial government has made a formal request for Ottawa aid to compensate Vancouver Island tidal wave victims.

But B.C. will wait for the results of a full appraisal by independent consultants before submitting a bill.

Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace wired Prime Minister Lester Pearson late on Thursday a report on the situation.

The wire said emergency relief is being handled satisfactorily by local and provincial authorities, and informed Ottawa that Vancouver adjutant E. C. Earle has been hired to supervise a detailed appraisal of damage.

"Federal assistance appreciated and preliminary reports indicate that it will be required," the wire said.

MOP-UP CONTINUES

Meanwhile the big mop-up continued in Alberni and Port Alberni, hardest-hit by tidal waves last Friday after the Alaska earthquake.

Municipal officials said today everything is going smoothly and most of the light work is completed. They wel-

If It Isn't White It's Grey

Frost came Thursday night, rain is scheduled for tonight, but after that the weather looks a little better.

Temperature overnight varied between 30 and 39, says weatherman William Mackie, but the city parks department reported plants apparently were not hurt.

Tonight should be milder—about 40—with showers and clouds Saturday.

Southeasterly winds tonight should change to westerly winds Saturday.

Sunday will be "a little better," predicts Mr. Mackie.

At the ski lodge on Green Mountain, the temperature was 28 degrees today.

Two inches of new snow are on top of 210 inches of old snow.

Both towns will be operating on the weekend, the snowmobile will be running to the gully if weather permits, and the road is plowed to the lower parking lot, the lodge reports.

Arthur Mayse

While this corner rarely finds itself in agreement with Education Minister Leslie Peterson, it must second the minister's decision to retain prayer and Bible readings in our public schools with a reluctant amen.

British Columbia teachers in convention have indicated by majority vote that they consider the babbled religious observance in our schools a waste of time; and certainly, the prayers with which parliament launches its sessional day do not always appear to guide the actions of Mr. Peterson and his fellow legislators.

Even so, it seems to me that the education minister is right, and that the teachers—to an accompaniment of liberalistic biasing about U.S. wickedness toward Cuba—like sheep have gone astray.

By their proposed dropping of Lord's prayer, and Ten Commandments, they would edge us a step nearer to the vacuum of the spirit which is the real threat posed by America to western culture.

Admittedly, the perfunctory recital which starts each public school day is unlikely to inspire religious fervor. Apart from wedding and funeral, however, it is the only contact a great many of our young are likely to make with the accepted faith of their country.

This being so, I think we might tolerate the 25-minute-a-week intrusion of church into state until we can offer satisfactory alternatives.

A five-minute disc workout with the Beatles or their successors in juvenile esteem? How does that strike you?

Or a capsule lecture on do-it-yourself psychiatry? Hairdressing hints for girls, driving tips for boys, or simply more time for study?

Personally, I fail to see any of these as acceptable substitutes for the Bible stint. I think even this token gesture against absolute materialism is better than none.

As a matter of economic necessity, we must be wagged

to some extent by the United States. But not, I think, in this particular attitude.

Today as a people, we stand in danger of descending into a paganism more sterile than any this world has yet known. We bestow the godhead on the things we can get our hands on—the automobile, the modern kitchen, the tangible object of our desire.

I like those objects. Life would be less comfortable without them. But I do not think we should permit them to deaden our sense of a world beyond the world we know. Ours, and our children's.

If you have a son or daughter old enough to deal in abstracts, you might as an experiment ask your child for an opinion on the teachers' resolution.

You may well find that he would also drop mathematics, literature, social studies, or whatever hard but necessary subject he dislikes.

But don't be too surprised if you draw a more thoughtful answer.

Here, as near verbatim as I can recall it, is what one high school student had to say on the subject of religious observance in the schools:

"I think up till the time kids are in, say, Grade 9, they ought to have Bible study along with their other subjects."

"I don't mean just the old gabble-gabble, but real teaching, from a teacher who can explain things as he goes along. Parents who object could have their children excused, just as some do for vaccination."

"In high school, I don't think we should have Bible work at all. By the time students are that old, they've pretty well decided what they're going to believe. But I think they should be taught in junior school. If they aren't, how can they choose?"

An over-simple approach to an involved subject? Yes; but to me it makes more sense than the teachers' no-Bible resolution.

"LIKE THREE FLATS"

Ann's letter gave a graphic description of her experiences during the upheaval:

"When the quake began, I was riding in a Volkswagen with a friend on the highway about 10 miles from town.

"We pulled over to the shoulder because it felt like about three flat tires. The ground was rolling, the car was rolling around, trees and telephone poles were waving back and forth.

"I guess it lasted about five minutes and then we started on. So far no damage.

"We got out around Tura again (a residential district) and began to notice chimneys down, minor cracks in the road; then carports fallen down, bigger cracks in the road and by the time we were one block away from home we noticed a lot of daylight where houses should have been.

"NO STREET"

"We drove down to the end of the road still out of sight of our house and over a six-inch crack and then—no street."

"It was all in heaves and fissures. That's when I got scared and we quickly drove to our home but it was at least 300 yards further out and big mounds of earth, deep cracks, huge holes and houses clear out in the inlet.

"I ran through the neighbors' yard directly behind our apartment and there was a sheer cut and a drop of 50-100 feet with a car at the bottom.

HOUSE TILTING

"I could see the back of the apartment, the garage and what was Fischer's house. Our apartment was on a 20-30 degree angle tilting back into a cliff-type of wedge.

"It had collapsed onto our car and I thought Ron was home. The ground shifted back and up. Houses were at the top and bottom (of huge crevasses) and—some halfway."

"Little kids were hanging onto poles crying and people were all over."

The letter went on to describe the pandemonium of people seeking higher ground after tidal warnings, hunting for lost relatives, trying to find cars or homes and also happy reunions—including hers with her husband—in the midst of a de-

Making Way for Progress

Victoria, not Anchorage, is the locale for these photos showing that man, in a smaller way, is capable of devastation too—a necessary first step in rebuilding Victoria's image. Photo above shows the scene at Flaggard and Government where courtyard of former Chinatown building complex is littered with rubble and salvage as structures are torn down to clear a site for senior citizens' recreation centre.

THOSE MAGIC WORDS!

By MARGE GILROY

"We're ready to take another baby."

That's what every social worker dreams of hearing.

Thursday night Mrs. B. Levitz Packford, social worker at the Family and Children's Service in charge of finding foster homes, heard those words and was startled.

The woman who uttered them is a mother of six and at present foster mother to one.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall had just had their first child when a social worker in Prince George approached them to take care of a seven-year-old retarded child. That was 14 years ago.

THREE MORE

Since then they have had three more children of their own, adopted two foster children and cared for many more.

A few friends and relatives find it difficult to understand why the Halls would adopt two children who were of Indian blood, as have been most of the foster children.

Even the Halls don't have any pat answer.

"We're not on any great crusade to save the Indian race," said Mr. Hall.

"We told the social worker we would take care of foster children and they just happened to be Indian," he said.

ANY RACE, CREED

"We are constantly looking for new homes of any race or creed," said Mrs. Packford.

At present there are 400 children in care in the Victoria area and 20 of these children are eligible for adoption but there are no suitable adoption homes available.

In Vancouver adoption applications have decreased by 19 per cent, while the number of unmarried mothers has increased by 15 per cent since 1959.

In Victoria the shortage is not as acute. Mrs. Packford is determined it never will be

HOUSE GOING DOWN, parking coming up—one of six houses recently purchased by the city on Caledonia and Julia, at south side of Memorial Arena, almost seems to quiver in pain as bulldozer rams into it. Parking for 180 cars will be created on arena property when demolition is finished. Work is being rushed so that the lot can be cleared and surfaced in time for annual May 11-16 Jaycee exhibition.

DROPPING INTO A MEMORY was the well-known couple of the 52-year-old Oak Bay boathouse at the instant this photo was taken Thursday afternoon. It broke up with age when pulled off by a crane despite efforts to keep it intact so it could be preserved. New marina will be opened officially April 15. (Times photos by Irving Strickland.)

Brentwood Girl Wins B.C. Speaking Title

A 17-year-old Brentwood girl won the B.C. 4-H public speaking contest at Langley on Thursday.

Selena Kelly, 1335 Stelly's Cross Road, a member of the Saanich 4-Home Arts Club, came first of six finalists from the island lower mainland and central B.C.

She was awarded the B.C. Institute of Agronomy trophy and the Vancouver Kiwanis gold medal.

Selena spoke on the "Future of Agriculture."

"She was outstanding," said Jim Hall, district agriculturalist at Abbotsford. "The others were at best speakers, but Selena had the edge over them all."

A pupil of Claremont High School, Selena was chosen to represent Vancouver Island after winning the island 4-H public speaking contest last fall.

Cathy Reid of Westbank, was runner-up and received a silver medal.

Judges were George Cunningham, Vancouver Kiwanis Club, Roy Bonner, B.C. Institute of Agronomy, and Eric Hughes, B.C. department of agriculture.

TOPICS of the DAY

"A" group of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a "clean-up and burning bee" at Francis Park, Munn Road.

A group of Victorians will try to persuade San Franciscans of the charms of Victoria.

Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce here will present slides and commentary to groups in the San Francisco area during a five-day trip.

Among those leaving Sunday are Chamber manager John Coppinger, William Clark of the Dominion Hotel, Robert Fraser of the B.C. Ferry Authority and Pat Frumento of Black Ball Transport.

Elected second vice-president of the B.C. Parent/Teacher Federation on Thursday was Mrs. A. B. Thompson of Victoria, chairman of school district 61 school board.

Mrs. H. L. Stevens, of Richmond, was elected president at the convention in New Westminster.

Fiji Flood Aid Asked By Former Victoria Doctor

An appeal for help for Fiji flood victims arrived here today from a former Victorian, Dr. Dorothy Keating Clay.

Dr. Clay, who has been practicing in Fiji for 14 years, wrote to Mrs. Alice McLeod, 1221 Rockland, saying the recent torrential rains had destroyed everything and the food supply is critical.

Banana, sugar and tobacco crops have been washed out and homes destroyed. Thousands of hungry persons are lining up at food stations for one meal a day.

Dr. Clay has asked for contributions to be sent to the Fiji Flood Relief Fund, in care of Mr. Ritchie, Government Buildings, Suva, Fiji.

Youngsters with sling shots did about $350 damage to Quadra Elementary School earlier this week.

The damage was reported to city police Thursday. More than 30 windows were broken by the juveniles.

City police have questioned several boys in connection with the vandalism and the investigation is continuing.

A faulty oil heater is believed to be the cause of a $1,800 fire at Carey Home Service Station, Tillicum and Carey, early Thursday.

The blaze spread up the walls and into the ceiling and in addition caused considerable smoke damage. Two cars in the building received an additional $200 damage each.

A mission to lepers meeting will be held April 10 at 2 p.m. in Central Baptist Church.

Vancouver Island zone Optimist International oratorical finals will be staged Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Optimist Home, 106 Superior.

Competing will be five boys under 15, sponsored by local clubs.

They are Roy Mezger and Greg Windwick, sponsored by Victoria Noon Optimists; Philip Squire, representing Victoria Centennial Optimists, and Paul O'Connor and John Adams of Oak Bay Optimists.

Winner will compete in district finals to be held later this year in Yakima, Wash.

Pete Seward, 1929 Sooke Road, will be installed as master councillor of Goldstream Chapter, Order of DeMolay, in a public ceremony Saturday at 8 p.m. at John Stubbs Memorial School, Belmont Park.

Newly-elected chapter sweetheart is Kathy Shelton, 15, 2665 Millstream Road.

The British Columbia Centennial Pioneers' Association will hold its fifth annual meeting Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Cridge Memorial Hall.

Membership is available to all who have lived in Victoria 70 years or more.

Victoria Branch, B.C. Government Employees' Association, is holding its spring dance tonight at 9 at the Crystal Garden.

Guests will be deputy ministers and their wives.

A 10-year-old boy is in fairly good condition today after being hit by a car at Cedar Avenue and Richmond Road Thursday afternoon.

Stanley McInnes, 1682 Derby, ran out in front of a bus stopped at the intersection, Saanich police said. He was hit by a car driven by Ulrich Liedtke, 5843 Old West Road.

The boy suffered head injuries. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Saanich fire department ambulance.

Visitor Dies After Attack En Route Here

Funeral services were held today for retired prairie jeweler James B. McAdam who died Wednesday in hospital, age 76.

Mr. McAdam was on his way to Victoria to visit his sister but suffered a heart attack Saturday on the provincial government ferry on the way to Swartz Bay.

He is formerly of Assiniboia and was a resident of Regina.

He was a member and past master of St. John's Lodge, AF and AM, and Royal Arch Chapter, Assiniboia, and a member of the Knights Templar and Wa Wa Shrine Temple, Regina.

He is survived by the widow, Sybil, four daughters, Mrs. Clifford E. Lee of Victoria, Mrs. S. C. McNab of Moose Jaw; Mrs. J. A. Westgate of Winnipeg; and Mrs. J. R. Linn of Honolulu.

FEDERALISM ACE

Lesage Plays
Driving Game

(See story Page 8)

By James Nelson

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec emerged from the three-day federal-provincial premiers conference as the man to watch—even more so than Premier John Robarts of Ontario—in the political tennis game of current inter-government affairs.

He lobbed more balls back over the net into the federal court, and with more telling effect, than any other player in the match. The fact that he is a Liberal, and Mr. Robarts a Conservative, added to the attention he won in the game with the Ottawa Liberal government.

Before this conference opened Tuesday, Mr. Robarts seemed to qualify as a cup contender because of his stance on the Canada Pension Plan. He kept the Ottawa Liberals off pace by questioning details in the federally-sponsored universal contributory retirement pensions plan without definitely declaring whether he is for it or against it.

Mr. Lesage, on the other hand, had been playing it calmly. He had on his side a resolution of the Quebec legislature committing him to a provincial retirement pension plan with similar benefits and which, he told the conference, could be integrated with the federal plan. The Ottawa team said that was fine.

When the conference met, Mr. Robarts said if Mr. Lesage wanted to watch the game instead of playing in it, he should be permitted to do so too. Prime Minister Pearson, leading the players on the other side, said that was of course within the rules of the game—every player would be treated alike.

But Mr. Robarts also said that whatever happens, Ontario will have a contributory pensions plan—if not the one the federal government is sponsoring, one of Ontario's own making. Before committing himself, he would wait and see what happens to the Canada Pensions Plan in Commons committee.

That put that ball back into the federal court.

Returns Other Fast Serves

Meanwhile, Mr. Lesage responded to two other fast serves. One was the announcement in Finance Minister Gordon's budget speech that Ottawa will pay $10 a month family allowances for anyone 16 or 17 years old who continued in school. The other was Ottawa's intention to make interest-free loans available for university students.

Both of these, Mr. Lesage said, had overtones of federal intervention in provincial educational affairs. During Mr. Lesage's post-conference press briefing it was apparent he scored with the reporters present from outside Quebec with these two points:

1. He regards himself as a leader of a province—with a population which is predominantly French-speaking and Catholic—in a minority position, as opposed to the other nine provinces and for this reason he must be on special guard for the protection of Quebec's position at all times.

2. As a lawyer, he has a view of federal-provincial affairs that requires a lawyer's analytical examination to follow. It is quite all right, he said, as a help to family life for the federal government to pay family allowances to the mothers of children up to the age of 16, but the new federal plan is one designed to encourage families to keep their children of 16 and 17 in school and this is an invasion of exclusive provincial rights in the field of education

Ready to Challenge in Court

Mr. Lesage said—he disowned any suggestion that it was a threat—that his government would challenge in the law courts any invasion of provincial rights by any legislation passed by the federal Parliament touching on education.

This was the Quebec premier's dramatic power play. Actually, it is a course that is open to any other government or any individual at any time. The vehemence with which he denied it is a threat emphasized how seriously he regards his duty, as he called it, to protect the province's constitutional position.

And so the two challenges to Quebec's educational autonomy were lobbed back into the federal court. The final official

SHORT TERM FOR MAZZILLI

Brazil Fears Strife
Against New Regime

(Times News Services)

RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazil today was faced with a period of interim government in the wake of an apparently successful army revolt that deposed President Joao Goulart.

But incidents of continuing resistance to the new regime of Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli, sworn in Thursday by Congress in Brasilia, were reported.

Mazzilli, 53, a liberal conservative politician, was legally successor to Goulart as president of the Chamber of Deputies.

Under Brazilian law, Mazzilli will serve for 30 days until the legislature elects a new president to serve out Goulart's term, due to expire in January, 1966. It was reported Goulart flew into the Argentine Thursday from Porto Alegre, capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul. Authorities in Argentine border provinces said, however, Goulart had not entered the country. Airport control towers in Paraguay and Uruguay also were watching for him.

The military leaders of the swift, almost bloodless revolution, who charged that Goulart's leftist policies were leading Brazil into communism, sent six army officers to Sao Borja to arrest him if he remained at his ranch.

Informants said he fled to prevent the bloodshed of a futile resistance.

Only two deaths were reported in the two-day revolution. Porto Alegre was the focal point of resistance Thursday to the new anti-Communist regime.

The local radio there reported serious incidents between pro and anti-Goulart demonstrators. Some observers feared the army revolt might touch off guerrilla warfare in Brazil in the weeks and months to come.

Goulart drew most of his support from leftist labor leaders who were reported being armed. It was indicated in Washington that the interim government would win early recognition from the U.S. government.

Dancer Rated
Race Favorite

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eight three-year-olds, headed by Winfield's Farm's odds-on favorite Northern Dancer, were entered today for the 13th running of the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park Saturday.

Canadian-born Northern Dancer, owned by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, drew the inside post position and with Willie Shoemaker in the saddle was a 2-to-5 favorite in the final big test for Kentucky-Derby-age colts in Florida at 1 1/4 miles.

Another Quake

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—Another sharp earthquake shook Anchorage today. It was not as long or severe as the one that devastated this area on Good Friday. The tremor sent people from buildings already damaged by the Good Friday quake.

Rapist Jailed

NANAIMO (CP)—Robert Glen Ward, 23, of Edmonton, was sentenced to four years in jail today after an Assize Court jury found him guilty of raping a 27-year-old Nanaimo woman. The jury deliberated more than five hours Thursday before bringing in the verdict. The woman, a mother of three, was attacked last Sept. 23 while baby-sitting for a neighbor.

Logging Fatality

TAHISIS (CP)—A 32-year-old father of five was killed instantly in a logging accident at Fair Harbor, near here. Police identified the victim as Carl Schenkeveld, of Surrey, B.C., employed by the Tahsis Company.

Larose to Play

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens have called up Claude Larose to replace star centre Jean Beliveau in Saturday night's fifth game of the Stanley Cup semifinal against Toronto here.

Larose is a right winger with Omaha of the Central Pro League. He played 21 games with Canadiens in the regular season and picked up one goal and one assist.

Pitts Signed

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Western Football Conference Winnipeg Blue Bombers announced today they have signed all-star end Ernie Pitts for eighth season with the club. Pitts, holder of six conference records, was plagued by injuries last season. He came to the Bombers in 1957 from University of Denver.

Youth Jailed

NANAIMO (CP)—Dennis Roy Cline, 17, of Duncan, was sentenced today to six months in definite and six months indeterminate in Oakalla prison for manslaughter in the death Aug. 8 of Hugh George Nesbitt, 14.

"This case has caused me a great deal of concern," Mr. Justice J. G. A. Hutchison told the youth.

He had given full consideration to Cline's age, but said it wasn't a proper case for a suspended sentence.

EIGHT-YEAR VIGIL ENDS

First Kiss Girl's Reward
As Convict Freed at Last

By JAMES CALOGERO

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph A. Flaherty, 41, walked out of state prison a free man today into the arms of his Canadian-born fiancée who helped make his release possible.

Flaherty had served 13 years of a 36 to 46-year sentence for assault, robbery and rape. His friend of eight years, Frances McKearney, 33, formerly of Peace River, Alta., was at the front door to greet him.

For the first time, he held her tightly in his arms, after years of corresponding and brief semi-weekly meetings under heavy supervision in the prison visiting room.

Flaherty, once known as New England's "public enemy No. 1," appeared meek and nervous.

Flaherty's release on parole was possible today with the restoration of 150 days of good-time credit, which he lost when he was part of a prison rebellion in 1955.

Flaherty was in a prison gang in the old-prison in Charlestown, Mass., that held four guards hostage for 85 hours.

As he left prison today, he was dressed in a dark blue suit which cost $30 to make in the prison tailor shop. He wore a white shirt and grey tie, black shoes and carried a dark blue raincoat.

Miss McKearney, who first learned about Flaherty when she read about his prison escapades, wrote to him at that time and his answers developed a pen-pal friendship which later blossomed into personal visits.

Prison Superintendent John A. Gavin said that in the last eight years he has been the superintendent Miss McKearney rarely missed a visit on Wednesday and Saturday—when visits are permitted.

Their professed love had helped in Flaherty's release on parole. She arrived at the prison 10 minutes before he walked out. Flaherty kissed her.

Attack Made
In Pravda

(Times News Services)

MOSCOW—Russia today called for a meeting of world Communist parties which informed observers here believed would almost certainly be designed for a showdown in the Sino-Soviet ideological dispute.

In a hard-hitting attack on the Peking government, the Russian party secretary, Mikhail Suslov, called for a meeting to discuss "the basic problems of our time."

The bitter attack, running to about 30,000 words, was spread over seven pages of the Communist party newspaper Pravda and was contained in a previously unpublished speech Suslov made to a party central committee meeting Feb. 14.

Pravda also printed an editorial saying a recent increase in Chinese propaganda attacks on Russia was "a terrible insult to our party and the entire Soviet leadership."

The editorial indicted the Chinese leadership for "passing all limits in their political struggle against the world Communist movement."

'Blackmail' Charge Hurdled

The Pravda editorial said the central committee decided to publish Suslov's speech because of Chinese attempts to "blackmail" Communist parties with the threat of a split.

Suslov accused Peking of "openly combatting" the line agreed to by Communist countries in world affairs.

He said all indications were that China's leaders "would like to be able to give orders to the socialist commonwealth as in their own estate, to impose their will on other countries and to dictate the terms on which they would either admit parties and peoples into the socialist system or 'excommunicate' them at will."

Suslov recalled the Chinese had persistently sought to obtain the atom bomb from Russia but the Soviet Union's nuclear storehouse was adequate protection for the entire Communist camp.

He said the Chinese had concentrated their fire on Soviet Premier Khrushchev in an attempt to isolate him from the rest of the Russian people and the party leadership.

'Doomed to Shameful Failure'

"This dirty attempt is adventurist and hopeless and doomed to complete and shameful failure," he added.

He said the Chinese were attempting to develop a personality cult around party leader Mao Tse-tung so he, "as Stalin in his time, would be supreme as a god over all Marxist-Leninist parties."

"The Chinese party should know the Communist movement will never repeat the cult of personality, for which it paid such a heavy price," he said.

Suslov said the Chinese leaders suggested to the peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America that a policy of peaceful economic competition was against their interests.

In point of fact, he said, "the growing economic potential of the socialist countries is in their best interest" since it enabled socialist countries to help the developing nations.

He said the curtailment of economic and cultural exchanges with Russia had only one explanation: "The Chinese leaders want to fence their people off from the Soviet Union."

Chinese leaders, Suslov said, "have apparently decided to carry through to the end their subversive activity against the Leninist unity of the world Communist movement."

They spoke of a split as "inevitable," he said, but only those who broke with the "principles of proletarian internationalism" could say that—since a split would inevitably undermine the world socialist system.

Suslov declared: "Today the policy and activity of the Chinese Communist Party is in their

New Russ Move
Not Easy for K

By STANLEY JOHNSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kremlin virtually read the Chinese out of the world Communist movement today, forecasting an era which brings new opportunities and new dangers for the United States and its friends.

How to exploit what appears to be an unbridgeable chasm between Moscow and Peking was a major concern of the White House and state department long before the Soviet Communist party issued its showdown challenge. Now it has become a vital concern.

To most diplomats, it long has seemed inevitable that a definitive break with China would mean the Soviet Union would have to work to improve relations with the West.

Not only does such a break mean the return to the relatively small "socialist camp" of the late 1940s, it also means the Soviet Union must guard the world's longest border against an openly hostile China.

China, firmly opposing Soviet policy in the East.

RESISTED PRESSURES

Premier Khrushchev must be thanking his lucky stars he resisted all pressures to help China build an atomic bomb.

With its limited resources, faltering agriculture, and pledges to fight imperialism with "goulash"—improved living standards for its people—the Soviet Union will find such a situation an almost unbearable strain unless there is relaxation somewhere.

It could come in Berlin, Cuba, or any point where Moscow and the West are in conflict.

There might be some concessions on disarmament. However, the direct inspection demanded by the West seems further off than ever since the Russians now will want to preserve their secrets from the Chinese as zealously as from the West.

The other side of the coin is just as important, however. The Russians, and Khrushchev in particular, cannot afford to follow a policy which might appear to prove the Chinese charge that Khrushchev is "the

Seattle, Tacoma Eye Power From Columbia

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Tacoma and Seattle city-owned power companies will probably buy a multi-million-dollar bloc of power available under the Columbia River Treaty, Tacoma utilities director C. A. Erdahl said today.

He said that Tacoma and Seattle have tentatively offered to purchase up to 50 per cent of Canada's treaty entitlement for 30 years, an amount calculated at approximately $254,000,000 worth of kilowatts.

"If Tacoma contracts for the power it would expect to sell it—probably to California—for the first 10 or 15 years," Erdahl said.

"After that it probably would become the lowest cost source of new power available for local load growth requirements."

He said it is also possible Tacoma may participate in a combine of public and private power agencies in underwriting a non-federal high voltage intertie which would deliver the Canadian treaty power to California.

Erdahl said he will recommend the purchase, provided city engineers agree on its feasibility, that utilities attorneys pass its legality, and that Seattle also goes along.

Gunfire Alerts Mediator Upon Arrival in Cyprus

NICOSIA (CP)—United Nations mediator Sakari Tuomioja of Finland got an awful early today of the basic ingredient of the nervous situation in Cyprus a few hours after his arrival here.

There was a burst of gunfire in the Canadian patrol area which could easily be heard in the Leda Palace Hotel where Tuomioja is staying.

Most of the shooting in suburban Trakonas between Greeks and Turks camped on opposite sides of the cease-fire line was in the British-patrolled sector. But there was also some in the area patrolled by two companies of the Royal 22nd Regiment, part of the 1,000-strong Canadian contingent in the UN peace-keeping force.

All the shots went overhead. Thursday a grenade incident badly injured a Turkish-Cypriot shepherd and sent Canadian troops into action.

RECEPTION TUESDAY NIGHT

Governor's 'Road Show' Coming

There is a story behind the Greater Victoria Art Gallery has sent out this week.

Invitations are for a reception opening "The Governor's First Invitational Show" Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Under sponsorship of Washington State Governor Albert D. Rosellini, this show is the result of a move to promote culture of the Pacific Northwest through annual representation art shows.

The first annual Governor's Invitational Art Show was opened last January at the State Capitol Museum in Olympia. It consisted of 60 paintings and sculptures by 30 leading Washington artists.

The show was hailed by the press as "a cultural coup" and "a milestone in the art history of the United States."

Governor Rosellini's plan is to invite each year a representation of art from a different northwest state and from British Columbia.

Shows will travel only to northwest state capitals and to Victoria as B.C.'s capital city. The current exhibition contains works by artists who have achieved national fame in the United States and some who, like Mark Tobey, Morris Graves, Guy Anderson and Kenneth Callahan, have gained international recognition.

Second show to be seen here concurrently, also sponsored by the governor, will consist of a one-man exhibition by Phillip McCracken, sculptor, whose work has lately become noted in New York, Paris and London.

He is the first Washington state artist to be honored in an annual nomination for "Artist of the Year."
